James' Name Linked to 2 More Mystery Deaths

NEPHEW AND THIRD WIFE INVOLVED

L. A. Officials Probing Auto Accident and Bathtub Drowning

LOS ANGELES, May 8. (AP)—Circumstances surrounding the deaths of Robert S. James' third wife and his nephew were investigated today by authorities delving into the master barber's matrimonial ventures.

For the rattlesnake-bathtub death of Mary Bush James, James' fifth wife, he and Charles H. (Chuck) Hope are being held on first degree murder charges.

They will plead next Monday to an indictment which alleges they killed Mrs. James last August by thrusting her leg into a box of rattlesnakes, drowned her in a bathtub, then tossed her body in a fish pond.

'Peculiar Circumstances' The prisoners carried out the fantastic plot to collect $21,400 on the woman's insurance policies, the state charges.

Commenting upon reports of Manitou, Colo., officials, Deputy District Attorney Eugene Gungan Williams said "peculiar circumstances" were attached to an automobile accident in which the third wife, Winona, sustained a skull fracture.

The accident occurred on Oct. 14, 1932, shortly before the woman's body was found in a bathtub at Manitou.

A witness accompanied James, Williams said, when he found his wife's body in the tub. Williams added:

"He always seemed to have a witness along when he found a wife drowned."

Hope, whose story of the fifth Mrs. James' death resulted in the arrest of himself and James, suggested to Williams that he probe the traffic death of Cornelius Wright, the nephew, killed when his automobile left a road near San Francisco.

Makes Suggestions Hope, Williams said, suggested he determine if the steering gear of the machine had been tampered with.

Miss Lois Wright, niece of James with whom he was found living recently, told District Attorney Euron Pitts her uncle tried to take out insurance policies on her life, naming himself as beneficiary.

The 21-year-old woman's story was corroborated by an insurance company official who said the company had refused to issue the policies.

Investigators found yesterday charred bits of night clothing in an incinerator in which, Hope has told authorities, he burned the nightgown of Mrs. James after her body was dumped into the fish pond.

Two rattlesnakes, which a reptile dealer said he sold to Hope before Mrs. James' death, and which the ex-sailor returned the following day, were examined by an expert herpetologist.

The snake dealer, J. C. Houtenbrink, said he knew the pair of serpents well enough to call them by name.

"They are 'Lethal' and 'Lightning,'" he said.

The expert found their venom deadly.

FIRE CAUSES HUGE LOSS

Flames at Santa Rosa Do $750,000 Damage; 5 Buildings Burn

SANTA ROSA, May 8. (AP)—Fire destroyed five buildings and menaced the business district here today, causing damage estimated at more than $750,000 before it was brought under control.

The buildings were the Rosenberg Department store, the Drake Electrical shop, Reed Millinery store, and office structures. Origin of the fire was undetermined.

Two firemen slipped while fighting the roaring blaze but escaped injury.

Quick action by the clerk at the Santa Rosa hotel located above the department store, prevented loss of life. He and the bellboys ran through the halls and aroused about 80 guests, many of them fleeing in scanty attire to the streets.

BARROWS SENT TO PRISON

NAB 11 IN MAIL ROBBERY RING

The last of four Orange county men convicted during the past week of morals crimes against boys began the long trek to San Quentin state penitentiary today.

Frank Y. Barrows, 61-year-old La Habra music teacher, was sentenced this morning by Superior Judge James L. Allen to spend up to the next 15 years in the penitentiary. Barrows lost a fight for freedom on an insanity plea Wednesday, when court psychiatrists pronounced him sane.

Two other men, both from Orange, one a high school teacher and one a musician, received identical sentences last week on the same charges. They were William J. Sutherland, former high school faculty member, and Arthur Crowell, organist.

Alvin Koenig, 24-year-old former Boy Scout worker, was sentenced to a life term in the penitentiary for similar crimes against boys under the age of 14.

Townsendites Will Rally in K. C.

KANSAS CITY, May 8. (AP)—Townsend old age pension plan leaders announced today that a mid-western meeting of advocates here July 4 will precede the national Townsend convention in Cleveland July 15-19.

W. F. Stafford, state area manager, said Townsend plan adherents from Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska would be invited.

REDUCTION IN TAXES AIM OF GROUP

New Organization Here Seeks Restoration of Local Levy Powers

Announcement was made here today of a movement to bring about tax reduction through restoration of local powers of government which many persons contend have been centralized at Washington. The new development is a project of the taxation committee of the chamber of commerce, approved by the chamber's board of directors, and probably will gain widespread attention through a meeting of the Southern California business leaders.

At this gathering, to be attended by secretaries of Southern chambers of commerce, those present are expected to consider plans for asking decentralization of governmental powers so they may be returned to local governmental agencies.

Plan Economic Council Another feature of the movement is the planning of a meeting of Orange county business leaders to form a tentative Orange county emergency economic council.

Howard I. Wood, secretary of the chamber and a member of its taxation committee, said today that all answers to questionnaires recently sent out by the chamber mentioned taxation as one of the major questions on which the chamber should work during the coming year. Accepting this more or less a mandate, the taxation committee set to work on the problem.

It was found, Mr. Wood explained, that budgets and various forms of taxation had been studied anxiously by other agencies, and it was agreed that nothing could be accomplished by duplicating this work. The committee then set out to find the cause of the change which, it is (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

NAB 11 IN MAIL ROBBERY RING

DENVER, May 8. (AP)—Thomas Morrissey, federal district attorney, announced the arrest today of Oliver P. Arnold, vice president of the Denver National Bank, and 10 other persons charged with conspiracy to loot the United States mails of $200,000 and with conspiracy to dispose of the loot.

The robberies, Morrissey said, occurred during the past few years in a number of mid-western cities. Besides Arnold, Charles Roberts, Denver attorney, was detained here with several other prisoners.

Morrissey said Jack Segar, arrested at St. Paul, Minn., was one of the leaders of the plot. Others he named were Winston Walker, 30, arrested at Benson, Ia.; Harold Bailey, 29, of Park Rapids, Minn.; John McBride, detained here; Othello McClellan, 36, auto salesman; Ralph Clifton, 48, radio salesman; Harold Kennedy, 29; Elmer Trower, 48; and John Edwards, 25, brought here from St. Paul.

Senate Passes Huge Navy Bill

HARAR FALLS AMID FIRE

Selassie, Fleeing From Crumbled Empire, Is Received in Haifa

By the Associated Press White clad and wan, Emperor Haile Selassie reached his exile goal of Palestine today while the second city of his fallen Ethiopian empire—Harar—was reported in flames.

A British warship carried the fleeing "King of Kings" to a respectful military reception in Haifa, and the Negus rode through streets patrolled by heavily armed troops to board a train for Jerusalem.

The armed patrols were there primarily to quell any Arab-Jew outbreaks, current in Palestine. Harar, long the goal of Italian forces from the south, was reported captured by the troops of Gen. Rodolfo Graziani after rioters had looted and burned in a fashion similar to that experienced by Addis Ababa.

The capture of Harar was said to complete Italy's military objective in Ethiopia.

While callow, unshod Ethiopian striplings gave the Fascist salute to the Italian army of occupation in Addis Ababa, there were these developments in Europe:

ROME.—Reliable quarters predicted Premier Mussolini will bid for a lifting of sanctions Saturday night, along with the expected decree for total annexation of Ethiopia. His avowed intention to again take a full part in international affairs was expected to be one result of Fascist grand council and cabinet meetings.

LONDON.—A tempest of British anti-sanctions feeling gave rise to predictions of a possible cabinet crisis for "Honest Sam" Baldwin's government.

GENEVA.—League of Nations officials, annoyed by the reported imminent annexation of Ethiopia by Italy, insisted the fallen empire still was recognized as a sovereign member of the league.

were eyeing Colonel Turner. They were wondering if he has as many tricks up his sleeve as Aviator Hughes had.

Mr. Hughes really was badly in need of a haircut. He was so interested in racing he couldn't take time out for a flight in the barber's chair. That was all right.

Nobody ever said much about it, but it was Friday, Sept. 13, when he set his mark here—and then set his plane on its belly in a beet field. The crash wasn't as spectacular as the one in "Hell's Angels," but it was hot news. The reporters raced to the nearest phone. A few moments later news of Aviator Hughes' accident had flashed across the continent.

Then the newsmen went stumbling through the beet field to find Aviator Hughes. He was unhurt. Photographers wanted pic-

Mobs Cleaned Up; Lone Public Enemy at Large

MAHAN FACES FAST TRIAL IN TACOMA

Robinson, Wanted for Stoll Kidnaping, Is Still Hunted

WASHINGTON, May 8. (AP)—Attorney General Cummings jubilantly surveyed the law's cleanup of two kidnap gangs and declared today that "the activity of interstate groups of criminals has been practically broken up."

Federal agents wrote "finish" on the records of the two mobs in a pair of swift, bloodless raids hundreds of miles apart yesterday.

Remaining "Principal" William Mahan, who headed the justice department's list of wanted men, was seized as he sat in his automobile in a San Francisco parking lot. He was called "the remaining principal" in the $200,000 kidnaping of 9-year-old George Weyerhaeuser, heir to a Tacoma, Wash., timber fortune.

A few hours earlier, J. Edgar Hoover led a squad of his agents in a sunup raid on a Toledo apartment where Harry Campbell, last survivor of the Barker-Karpis mob, was arrested.

Alvin Karpis, erstwhile "Public Enemy No. 1," and known as the "brains" of old Kate "Ma" Barker's ring of bank robbers and kidnapers, was captured by Hoover and his men in New Orleans a week ago.

Only One Left The hunt concentrated today on a lone figure—last kidnaping "public enemy" to remain at large. He is Thomas H. Robinson Jr., the ex-law clerk accused of kidnaping Mrs. Berry V. Stoll in Louisville, Ky., a year and a half ago, for $50,000 ransom.

Hoover agreed with Cummings, his chief, that kidnaping and bank robbery are, at last, "under control."

"Bank robbery and kidnaping will always continue to some degree, however," Hoover added quickly.

Cummings said news of the rapid-fire capture of Karpis, Campbell and Mahan was "the most gratifying piece of information I've received for some time," and called the cleanup "a splendid piece of work."

TEN SHIPPERS SUE MARKET AGREEMENT

L. M. Banks Says County Lost Million Dollars Under 1935 System

"I wouldn't be surprised if Orange county lost $1,000,000 last year through operation of the prorate system for Valencia orange shipments."

This was the comment made today by L. M. Banks of the Banks Fruit company at Anaheim, one of 10 independent shippers who yesterday filed injunction suits against both the federal and state citrus marketing agreements.

The lawsuits were launched partly to test constitutionality of the agreements.

Withers Plaintiff Withers Brothers, Placentia packers who have just won a case in which the California Triple A was declared unconstitutional by Superior Judge James L. Allen, are among the other plaintiffs in the new cases.

Mr. Banks said today it is impossible for the independent shippers to work with the growers advisory committee because the interests of the independents and the cooperatives are so conflicting.

"We are ready to ship now," said Mr. Banks. "And we can't do it. We've asked for a prorate and we can't get it."

The growers' advisory committee, the distribution committee and officers of the state and national agricultural adjustment administrations were named as defendants in the injunction suits. One suit, filed in the United States district court, is returnable May 18. The other, in the Los Angeles superior court, is returnable May 25.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs said the federal case will be taken to the circuit court of appeals for a test of constitutionality, if it is decided in favor of the government.

Other Plaintiffs Other plaintiffs are the Pico Citrus association at Pico; Fred A. Hill (I. L. Lyon and Sons) of Redlands; A. ### NAZI ZEP NEARS U. S. SHORES

NEW YORK, May 8. (AP)—The German Zeppelin Hindenburg, on her maiden North Atlantic flight, was nearing the shores of America today with a speed which indicated she might be over territorial waters shortly after sunset.

With her goal Lakehurst, N. J., and a crossing time of 63½ hours a possibility, the Hindenburg was reported at noon, Eastern Standard time, as only 680 miles east-northeast of Nantucket lighthouse by Western Union.

The ship's officers said they expected to moor at Lakehurst at about 7 a. m. tomorrow.

Headless Body Found in River PORTSMOUTH, O., May 8. (AP) The headless body of a young woman was found floating in the Ohio river 18 miles east of here.

Three knife wounds were found in the portion of the victim's neck that remained. Her body was found last night by Walter Raikes, a fisherman.

The only clue to the girl's identity was a scarf bearing the initials "E. H."

Authorities sought to determine if there was any connection with the finding of the body and the disappearance of a girl from Olive Hill, Ky.

G. B. Flies Troops To Palestine

LONDON, May 8. (Palmer Agency)—Reliable sources said today that the British government had ordered transport airplanes filled with British soldiers to fly from Cairo to Palestine to prevent further rioting between Arabs and Jews.

Defiance by the Arabs of an ultimatum by High Commissioner Sir Arthur Grenfell Wauchope to halt the general strike in Palestine is believed to be responsible for the military anxiety.

LANDON SAYS PRESIDENTIAL DRIVE WILL BE NO PINK TEA PARTY

KANSAN RAPS NEW DEAL'S TACTICS

TOPEKA, Kan., May 8. (AP)—The nation had a broad hint from Gov. Alf M. Landon today that the coming presidential campaign will be "no pink tea affair" if he receives the Republican nomination.

Mixing in criticism of the Roosevelt administration, the governor gave his own ideas on issues of the contest in a radio interview at the executive residence with H. V. Kaitz, editor, political commentator, Says Confidence Needed.

When the nation needs most, Landon said, is a revival of confidence. He assailed the New Deal as betraying "our high national ideals" with "wasteful, slipshod, incompetent, happy-go-lucky administration," and said "progressive government deserves something better than casual experiments."

The "pink tea" remark came when Kaitz asked the governor whether he would make a "real fighting campaign" if he were nominated.

Landon replied: "Well, that all depends on how you judge a man. Some people judge a man by the amount of talking he does. Other people judge him by what he gets done. As to a fighting campaign—well, you can never tell how a horse will work until you hitch him up."

"The returns of the last two Kansas elections might answer that question. I don't think anyone ever considered our political campaigns in Kansas as pink tea affairs."

Cites 'Real Issue'

The interview was Landon's first extensive public discussion of national issues since his Kansas day address Jan. 29.

After accusing the present administration of "heedless retarding of recovery" Landon said:

"I believe that the real issue before the American people today is not whether you are better off now than you were in 1933; the real question and issue is this: Have we made as much progress in coming out of this depression as you have a reasonable right to expect?"

Asked how he thought confidence could be restored, the Kansas executive replied: "... I believe that a presidential campaign can be made a great means of public education. One that will inform the public and give the people a chance to study and understand what the real issues are."

"You must realize that for three and one-half years, we have had only one side of the story. We've been up against the greatest political propaganda machine that the country has ever seen. And the worst of it is, it is being paid for out of the public treasury."

MORE ABOUT TAXES

reported, has multiplied taxes seven or eight times in the last 15 to 25 years.

"The committee found that the change began with the system of extending federal aid for state highways," said Mr. Wood. "This inaugurated the principle of centralizing in the federal government the powers which had once rested with state or county governments. That principle, which is nothing but taking money out of your pocket with one hand and putting it back in some other, has resulted in the transfer of many local powers to the federal or state governments."

Jerome Tells Stand

"Under the pressure of the extensive collapse during the depression, this principle of controlling local affairs by means of federal so-called aid was so greatly extended that in effect it took away most of the prerogatives of state and county governments."

Supervisor W. C. Jerome, who has long been a student of this trend in government, and who is working on the chamber's tax study, has explained that more than 80 per cent of the last budget of Orange county was for services "now regulated by either the federal or state government but which formerly were administered by county governments. The right to govern is the right to tax, and through this method of centralization of government very largely in one place in America, nearly the entire control of the lives and business of the country has passed into the hands of the federal government."

Cites Huge Raise

The tax committee of the chamber, said Mr. Wood, feels that no correction can be made until the control of governmental functions formerly vested in local agencies has been returned to them.

"As matters stand today, control of the major expenditures which have mounted to such dizzy heights is no longer in the hands of the people," he said.

"In practice it also works out that the expense increases as control moves farther and farther away from the point where the money is raised."

"Under the constitutional system of government on which this country was built, it grew to possess one-half of the world's wealth while having only one-seventh of the world's population. The committee feels that it must have been a good form of government which brought about such results."

The chamber's board of directors has endorsed the committee's recommendations along this line and advised that the matter be taken up with the California Taxpayers association. This was done, but it was found that the constitution of that organization prohibits it from

SANTA ANANS WILL VISIT GARDENS

Tomorrow will be Santa Ana day at Rancho Santa Ana Botanic Gardens.

Residents of this city will view the numerous displays of native wild flowers and shrubs which are now in full bloom. Tickets for the event may be secured at the chamber of commerce office here, free.

Last year more than 200 persons visited the gardens on Santa Ana day.

On tomorrow's visit, guests may walk through the garden trails unescorted, or guides will be provided. There will be a talk in the administration building of interest to Orange county residents.

The gardens staff collects native wild flowers and shrubs from all over California. One area is devoted particularly to wild flowers native to Orange county.

There are tables at the gardens available for those who wish to take their lunch there.

TRIO BOOKED AS DRUNK DRIVERS

Two women and one man were booked at the county jail yesterday on charges of drunk driving. One of the women, Mrs. J. S. English, 44, Long Beach, arrested at Seventeenth and Main streets by Santa Ana police, was released under $200 bond.

Mrs. English, according to police, drove her car into the rear of a car driven by R. W. Heiser, Orange. Mr. Heiser had stopped for the signal at the intersection. The other female drunk driver is Dolores Burgess, 22, of 115 East Union street, Fullerton. Miss Burgess was booked at the county jail by Anaheim police at 4:30 a. m. today.

Ollie Jackson Coxwell, 42, Long Beach, yesterday started a 25-day jail sentence in lieu of a $50 fine. Coxwell was arrested in San Clemente.

engaging in such a movement, Mr. Wood said.

Led to Plan

Since then, he explained, the committee, and particularly Mr. Jerome, have sounded out business leaders in the state and it has been found that many of them are thinking along the same lines. This led to plans for the meeting of the Southern California business leaders which probably will be held, and for the plan to form an Orange county emergency economic council.

Business men as a whole, said Mr. Wood, are not effectively organized for action on a national basis, but if they were so organized they could make their will felt either in preserving present conditions or bringing about such changes as they believe should be made. Many times when they attempt to make themselves felt in this manner they are accused of playing politics, he said.

"This movement is not political and has no reference to any party in this country. It is a plan whereby business men may unite to preserve the rights which the constitution has provided for private business and property, in the belief that human rights are best protected by such a form of government."

Among those who are expected to represent the local association in planning for the coming year's work are Secretaries Smedley, Tibbals and Thomas, together with E. H. Layton, Glenn Layton, D. G. Tibbals, R. Carson Smith, Quentin Matzen, Dr. G. E. Raitt, Lytle C. Forman and R. H. MacArthur. The afternoon's program will involve plan-making for all lines of activity in which the various Y. M. C. A. groups come into competition or other relations. Dates will be set and schedules arranged for all sorts of work, from volleyball and basketball to boys' camps, Hi-Y training camp, group Bible studies and all such matters.

number of Southland citrus districts; the Cherokee Citrus Company of Highlands; Andrews-Zilen and Company, and C. O. Banks (Banks Fruit Company) of Monrovia. Banks is a brother of L. M. Banks.

L. M. Banks said today the independents are in favor of a prorata if it can be worked out equitably for all shippers.

"But the cooperatives are trying to use the law to drive us out of business," he said. "Last year at the opening of the Valencia season the navel shippers and shippers in Central California were favored. When the prorata was opened, practically all the allotments were given to the northern districts and we were held back."

Ready to Ship

"If anything happens to the prorata, nobody can be blamed but the cooperatives. They have proven they will not work with us. Reliable independent dealers pay spot cash to the growers for fruit and we net them more every year than the cooperatives."

"There is a meeting in Los Angeles today, and the navel men are trying to hold back shipments from Southern California. The navel men have had a bad year, but the Valencia growers should not be made to stand for their loss."

In explaining that independents are ready to ship now, Mr. Banks said they believe the requirement that Valencia fruit shall meet the 8.5 to 1 sugar test before going to domestic markets is unfair. He said in Central California, navel oranges only have to meet 6.5 to 1 test, while in Southern California the test is 8.5 to 1.

'Y' Delegates to Attend L. B. Meet

The annual "program assembly" of Southern California Y. M. C. A. is to be held Saturday afternoon at the Long Beach Y. M. C. A. building, and will be attended by a delegation from the local Y. It was stated today by General Secretary Smedley.

Among those who are expected to represent the local association in planning for the coming year's work are Secretaries Smedley, Tibbals and Thomas, together with E. H. Layton, Glenn Layton, D. G. Tibbals, R. Carson Smith, Quentin Matzen, Dr. G. E. Raitt, Lytle C. Forman and R. H. MacArthur. The afternoon's program will involve plan-making for all lines of activity in which the various Y. M. C. A. groups come into competition or other relations. Dates will be set and schedules arranged for all sorts of work, from volleyball and basketball to boys' camps, Hi-Y training camp, group Bible studies and all such matters.

Business men as a whole, said Mr. Wood, are not effectively organized for action on a national basis, but if they were so organized they could make their will felt either in preserving present conditions or bringing about such changes as they believe should be made. Many times when they attempt to make themselves felt in this manner they are accused of playing politics, he said.

"This movement is not political and has no reference to any party in this country. It is a plan whereby business men may unite to preserve the rights which the constitution has provided for private business and property, in the belief that human rights are best protected by such a form of government."

CLAUDE KNOX ELECTED BY AUTO MEN

Claude Knox, Santa Ana Cadillac, La Salle and Oldsmobile dealer, last night was elected president of the Orange County Automobile Dealers association at a meeting held in Green Cat cafe, Santa Ana. Mr. Knox succeeds B. J. MacMullen, who served as president of the association the past two years.

Other officers elected last night were Carroll Cone, Anaheim, vice president, and W. R. Gordon, Santa Ana, secretary. The board of directors and committeemen will be selected at the first meeting of the officers of the association.

Members of the association who attended the meeting last night heard two addresses by men prominent in automobile circles. George Goodrum, Santa Monica, a member of the board of directors of the National Automobile Dealers association, reported on events which took place at the recent national convention of the association in New Orleans. Mr. Goodrum lamented the practice of car dealers who take in used cars and then resell them as soon as possible. He said steps are being taken whereby junking funds will be available some time in the future. These junking funds will make it possible for car dealers to junk old cars taken in trade on new cars. Urging a closer relationship between dealers, Mr. Goodrum asked that they come to an understanding based on honesty with each other.

The other speaker, Robert Bryer, Los Angeles finance company representative, said the automobile industry has reached a crisis. He said there is a market for 6,000,000 cars for replacement purposes in America this year, but that dealers will not be able to sell that number. He pointed out that because of abnormal governmental expenditures, a condition of inflation has resulted. Consequently, more people are buying cars, although there is a steady trend toward a rise in prices. He said there is a demand for cars today

MORE ABOUT MAHAN

napping led him to a jail cell here today, facing a quick trial for the $200,000 crime.

After his capture in San Francisco by department of justice agents Mahan was brought here by plane and jailed last night scarcely a dozen blocks from the spot where he allegedly snatched 9-year-old George Weyerhaeuser from the street on last May 24.

Federal officials meanwhile prepared to arraign him within 24 hours on charges of kidnaping and mail fraud.

"We are ready to go to trial," United States District Attorney J. Charles Dennis announced.

Under the "Lindbergh law," Mahan cannot be sentenced to death, since the kidnaped boy was not injured.

CAMPBELL, QUIZZED ABOUT CLEVELAND GANG

ST. PAUL, May 8. (AP)—An effort to learn the names of Karpis-Barker gang aides—including politicians—was pressed by federal agents today in questioning Harry Campbell, last of the major members of the mob.

Campbell, seized in Toledo yesterday and rushed here by plane, was interrogated in the federal building where his confederate, Alvin Karpis, underwent a five-day quiz.

Government officials declined to comment but the Minneapolis Tribune said it had learned Karpis furnished the clue that led to his lieutenant's arrest.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, who participated in both arrests, asserted the capture of the gangsters two years ago was frustrated because they were tipped off by two Cleveland politicians. He added:

"We're going to get all who aided that gang in Cleveland—the doctors, lawyers and politicians."

The Sidewalk Spectator:

To The Journal: See where the old-timer down in North Carolina who became a father at 94 is anxiously awaiting the birth of another child, in June. Another son is now 63 years old.

Now even though verified by medical authorities, it reminds us of the story of the 101-year-old man back in the hills of Kentucky.

It seems reports had reached civilization of a man in "them thar hills" who was 101 years of age, and as spry as a colt. So a news reporter went for a story.

"... so you are 101 years of age, have the same teeth you had when you were born," etc., said the reporter. "Now, may I ask, how old was your father when he died?"

"He ain't dead yet."

"Not dead yet! Then where is he?"

"Oh he's upstairs puttin' grandpappy to bed."

Yours, wondering if the old man is sure he's more than 94.

GLENN L. THORNE, The Sidewalk Spectator.

COURT BRIEFS

Louise A. Weide petition in superior court yesterday to admit the will of his father, Henry Weide, who died April 4, to probate.

The estate, consisting of approximately $2000 personal property and cash, and certain ranch property in Kansas, is left to three children and the petitioner.

Cruz Perez, Santa Ana Mexican, will stand trial May 25 before Superior Judge G. K. Scovel on a statutory charge involving a 17-year-old girl, following filing of information against him today in superior court by the district attorney. Perez entered a plea of not guilty and asked for a jury trial.

George F. Duke, of San Diego and Garden Grove, today entered a plea of not guilty to one count of burglary and one of committing petty theft with a prior conviction, for assertedly having stolen a $25 typewriter on April 20 from the residence of G. H. Kemp, Garden Grove. He was convicted on a petty theft charge in San Diego in 1930. Trial was set for May 25 before Superior Judge G. K. Scovel.

Vincent Morales, Yorba Linda, was to be arraigned in superior court this afternoon on charges of burglary, growing out of the asserted illegal entrance of an Atwood welding shop, on Placentia-Yorba boulevard May 4. The shop is owned by C. J. Barber.

Walter Wentz, Garden Grove, was a business visitor at The Journal today.

"Floating Peril"

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM

CHAPTER I

Hammer Wildburn sat up suddenly in his wide and luxurious cabin bed with the start of the sound sleeper unexpectedly awakened. His hands clasped the pajama-clad knees. He listened intently. Through the wide-open porthole opposite came the 30-second flash from Antibes lighthouse. From the shore road which skirted the bay there was the faint hoot of a belated motor car. Closer at hand the lazy murmur of the sea against the sides of his anchored yacht. Then, more distinctly, he heard the sound which had at first awakened him. This time there was no doubt about it. A human voice from the open space. A woman's cry of appeal. The soft but purposeful splashing of a swimmer keeping herself afloat. The young man jumped out of bed, ran up the companionway and leaned over the side. What he saw almost immediately below was enough to startle anyone. A woman was floating upon her back, a woman not in the day-day scanty but sufficient bathing-dress of the moment, but a woman in evening dress with the glint even of jewels around her neck. "What on earth's the matter?" he called out. "Have you fallen in from anywhere?"

"Please do not ask foolish questions," was the composed reply. "Let down your steps. I have upset my canoe and I must come on board for a moment."

Visitor Collapses

Wildburn's hesitation was only momentary. He unscrewed the hooks, lowered the chain and let down the steps into the sea. The woman, with a few tired strokes, swam toward him. She showed no particular signs of weakness or panic, but she clutched almost feverishly at his hand, and the moment she reached the deck she calmly but completely collapsed, with a thrill of horror Wildburn realized that a portion of her black chiffon gown which clung so tightly to her body bore traces of a darker stain than the discoloration of the sea. His natural stream of questions died away upon his lips as she became a dead weight upon his arm.

There was a quivering narrow shaft of light piercing the skies eastward when the woman opened her eyes. Wildburn gave a sight of relief. He held a glass of brandy once more to her lips. His fingers guided it and she sipped some feebly.

"I will give you some coffee presently," he promised. "By an unfortunate chance, I am alone on the boat. I gave my matelot and his boy the night off."

She fingered the blanket by which she was covered. A look of mild horror shone out of her eyes. Hanging from the ropes which supported the forward awning was a black shapeless object.

Wound Not Serious

"My gown," she gasped. "I had to take it off," he explained coolly. "I was not sure whether you were seriously hurt. I am glad to find that you are not. I bound up your shoulder. You may find it stiff and a little painful from the salt water, but the wound is not serious."

She lay quite still. Her hands were underneath the rug. From a very damp satin bag she produced a handkerchief and wiped her forehead.

"I suppose it was necessary for you to play lady's maid?" she asked weakly. "Absolutely," he assured her. "You were still bleeding and I could not tell how serious your wound might be. I—er—exercised precaution."

She looked up at him earnestly. Apparently her scrutiny of his features satisfied her. Wildburn was not good-looking in the ordinary sense of the word but he had pleasant features, a freckled, sunburnt complexion and the humorous gleam of understanding in his eyes.

"I am sure you did what you thought was best," she said. "I ran my canoe into one of those stationary fishing boats."

If it occurred to him to make any comment upon her journeying amongst them at an early hour in the morning, alone and in evening dress, he refrained.

"I always said that they ought to show a light," he remarked. "I have seen your canoe. It is drifting in shorewards."

"Give me some more brandy," she begged. "I wish to speak to you before we are disturbed."

"I can hear the kettle boiling now," he told her. "Wouldn't you like coffee?"

"Coffee would be better," she admitted. "You are being very kind to me. I thank you."

Coffee, But No Milk

Still somewhat dazed, Wildburn descended the steps, made the coffee and remounted.

"I'm sorry," he apologized, "there will be no milk. They bring it to me from the shore at 7 o'clock."

"It smells too delicious as it is," she declared.

"If you will swing round a little," he advised her, "with another cushion or two behind your back, you will be more comfortable. You can sit up now, and you see, I will put this rug round your knees. Directly you have had your coffee, you had better go down to my cabin and take off the remainder of your wet things."

"You have perhaps a stock of ladies' clothing on board?" she asked curiously.

"If I had known of your projected visit," he replied, "I should have provided some. As it is, you will have to content yourself with a set of my pyjamas. You will find them in the bottom drawer of the wardrobe by the side of the bed."

Wants Explanation

She looked at him meditatively. Wildburn was a trifle over six feet and she herself, slim and elegant as she seemed, could scarcely have been more than five feet. Furthermore, Wildburn was broad-shouldered, with a man's full chest. She sighed.

"I am going to look ridiculous," she complained.

"I should forget that for the moment," he ventured, as he set down her empty coffee cup. "You seem to be quite warm. I wonder whether you are feeling strong enough to satisfy my curiosity before you go down below."

"What do you want to know?" she asked.

He looked around the harbour. There were no unusual lights, no indications of any other yacht having come in during the night.

"Well, where you came from, first of all. Then, why you choose to paddle about the bay in the small hours of the morning in your evening clothes; and lastly, why you should choose my boat for your objective."

She was watching that broadening shaft of light uneasily. "What is the time?" she enquired.

"Five o'clock," he told her. "Do you mind if I smoke a cigarette whilst you explain your adventure?"

"I will smoke one too," she said, holding out her hand. "As to explaining my adventure, I find it difficult. You smoke good tobacco, I am glad to see. Thank you," she added, as she leaned toward his match.

There was a silence. As yet, there was no sign of life either on the small plage or anywhere upon the sea. They were surrounded by the brooding background of the woods which fringed the inlet. The lights in the few villas had long been extinguished. The tops of a row of tall cypresses stood out like dark smudges against the coming dawn.

"Well?" he asked after a brief pause.

"After all, I find it difficult," she admitted. "Where I came from, it does not matter. I started, as you perceive, in a hurry. I am rather impulsive. There was something which had to be done. 'Something' which had to be done between 3 and 4 o'clock in the morning, by a young lady still wearing valuable jewellery and dressed for the evening, sounds," he pointed out, "mysterious!"

"Life," she told him evasively, "is mysterious."

Evades Questions

"You will have to be a little more definite," he insisted, with some impatience. "I have done my best to help you under these singular circumstances, but I want to know where you came from and what you want."

"Indeed," she murmured, drawing the blanket more securely around her.

"Think it over for a few minutes," he proposed. "Go down below—the hatch is open—five steps, first door to the right, and you will come to a very untidy cabin. There are plenty of clean towels on the settee. I have rubbed you as best I could. You had better try and get yourself quite dry. Put on some pyjamas and my dressing gown—which you will find there—then come up and explain yourself."

"You will trust me in your cabin then," she observed, struggling to her feet.

"Why shouldn't I? You do not appear to be in distressed circumstances and I have nothing in the world worth stealing."

She looked at him for a moment with an expression which baffled him.

"Are you as honest as you seem?" she asked abruptly.

"I think so," he answered, mystified.

Waits Long Time

Without further comment she rose to her feet and, holding the blanket about her as though it were an ermine cape, disappeared down the stairs.

The tiny restaurant on the plage was still closed. The beautiful chateau which, with its thickly growing woods, occupied the whole of the western side of the bay, offered no signs of life. The windows of the few villas on the other side were still lifeless blanks.

He paused before the sodden and black frock flapping in the faint breeze, took it down and shook it. A fragment of a ribbon inside disclosed the name of a world-famous dressmaker. Then he turned round to find his unaccountable visitor standing by his side.

"Of course, I know I look ridiculous," she admitted querulously. "I hope that your manners will stand the strain and that you will not laugh at me."

The telltale lines at the corners of his eyes and mouth deepened, but if he felt any inclination towards mirth, he restrained it.

Foreigners Get S. F. Invitation

WASHINGTON, May 8. (AP)—The senate voted yesterday to authorize the President to invite foreign countries to participate in the San Francisco Bay exposition to be held at San Francisco in 1939.

The resolution of Senator Johnson (R., Calif.), calling attention to the international exposition to be held in celebration of completion of the San Francisco-Oakland bridge and the Golden Gate bridge, was adopted without debate.

RAILROADS CUT SCHEDULE? Speed Trims Continent 1 Day

CHICAGO, May 8. (AP)—Railroads, whittling at time, plan to narrow the continent by more than a full day soon.

The next slash will come with the scheduled inauguration of the Santa Fe's 39-hour, 45-minute "super chief" trip between Chicago and Los Angeles—a reduction of 21 hours and 45 minutes, which will tie in with the three and a half hour reduction put into effect last month by eastern roads.

Matching the speed of the Diesel powered "super chief" will be the Northwestern-Union Pacific's new streamliner "City of Los Angeles." The Santa Fe train is scheduled to make its inaugural trip westward from Chicago next Tuesday. The "City of Los Angeles" will make its first run from Los Angeles eastward on May 15.

Another fast train is scheduled to make its first appearance next month is the Northwestern-Union Pacific's "City of San Francisco," Companion to the "City of Los Angeles," the Chicago-San Francisco train will also make the run in 48 hours, 45 minutes, a reduction of 21 hours.

The pioneer 39 hour, 45 minute train to the Pacific Northwest, the Northwestern's "City of Portland" will observe its first anniversary next month. Traveling over a former 59 hour, 45 minute run, the streamliner has successfully maintained the schedule between Chicago and Portland, Ore., since last June 8.

Operating schedules of the New York Central's "20th Century" and the Pennsylvania's "Broadway Limited" were recently reduced to the Chicago-New York run to 3 hours, 30 minutes, a saving of three and a half hours.

When the new schedules to the west become effective the New York-Los Angeles run will be made in the record elapsed time of 56 hours, 30 minutes—a saving of 24 hours and a half compared with the former time.

WATCH OUT NOW, BACTERIA! New Death Ray Discovered

ROCHESTER, Minn., May 8. (AP) Invention of a new type of cool germ-killing rays that destroy air-borne bacteria about the patient on an operating table was announced today by the American Society of Thoracoplasty surgeons here today by Deryl Hart, M. D., of Duke university medical school.

This is the first time that the air of an operating room has been continuously sterilized. It is the final step in safety from infection which began with Joseph Lister's inauguration of antiseptic surgery in 1865.

The rays come from long, slender tubes framing the light above the operating table. The tubes are cool, only eight to 10 degrees above room temperature. Their rays are selected wave-lengths of ultra-violet—which kill air-borne germs in 60 seconds, but do not burn human beings.

The tubes were designed by Dr. Robert F. James and Dr. Harvey Rentschler of the Westinghouse lamp company.

The air-borne organisms, Dr. Hart said, have become a "distinct hazard" since surgery has come to perform operations lasting a long time. They caused sporadic infections "in an otherwise clean case."

Disinfecting walls and floors and masking the breathing of surgeons and nurses failed to eliminate all these germs.

The new radiators, kill nearly all the organisms within about eight feet a minute.

Mental and Mass Healing for Poor Latest in Medicine

ST. LOUIS, May 8. (AP)—Mental healing of the poor for the first time by mass psychoanalysis, a new application of Freudianism, was reported to the American Psychiatric association here today by Paul Schilder, M. D., Bellevue hospital, New York City.

Hitherto, he said, only the wealthy have been able to afford psychoanalysis. He applied it to the poor and the impoverished by psychoanalyzing them in school room fashion, giving them in groups Sigmund Freud's way of discussing censored thought and dreams.

The results of 51 cases so treated, he said, were 11 apparently cured, 16 improved and 24 unrelieved. All were mental cases, some severe, others mild.

Each one had a private interview before joining the class. Men and women were kept in separate classes, but Dr. Schilder said ultimately he hopes to use the co-educational technique.

Each one wrote his own life history with particular attention to incidents of infancy. Sex development and dreams were included.

The class was asked to think particularly in terms of body and beauty; room fashion, giving them efficiency, superiority and inferiority from a physical standpoint; aggressiveness and submission; masculinity and femininity; relations of sex and love; expectation for the future; and the meaning of death.

They sat around and talked together. An experience recalled by one, Dr. Schilder said, would bring recollections of a whole series of analogous experiences from other patients. Dreams were interpreted.

Homemade mattresses are replacing straw ticks, long used by many rural families in the south, thanks to 110 pounds of tax-free cotton allowed growers for domestic use.

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor
By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

MILT DANIELSON, The Journal's news-gathering carrier boy, who lives in and serves Santa Ana Gardens, has sent in another letter.

We're continually surprised at Mil, who goes out of his way to please his customers by sending in news items about 'em. He isn't paid for it, except by the pleasure of his readers, and he keeps right on working as hard as he can.

Some time ago, after Mil had written in, we mentioned that a nice murder mystery was expected from his territory before long. Since that time he's been searching for one, as he explains in this week's contribution:

"I sincerely thank you for publishing the last news. The 'murder story' is yet to be found, but Santa Ana Gardens has other publicity—the possible location of a state prison farm.

"The Diamond P-T. A. met in the 'bungalow' Tuesday at 2:30 o'clock. The delegates' report on the state convention was heard and plans were made for the last day of school.

"A pie social was held in the 'bungalow' Wednesday at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Frances Liles, from the farm advisor's office, was speaker.

"Mrs. Clara Culver and Clara Blackwell, Diamond P-T. A. state convention delegates, returned to Santa Ana Saturday.

"Raymond Caple, who was hurt badly when struck by an auto some time ago, has returned to school.

"Mrs. Gardner, of San Joaquin school, loaned Diamond school some interesting maps in exchange for some art lessons."

"That's Mil's news dispatch for the week. While eagerly waiting for his murder story, we'll be only too glad to accept anything else that'll make his customers happy!"

We read election night chuckles from Fullerton. About Howard Irwin, county Republican notable, who received votes as a presidential nominee. In fact, Howard ran third in a field of two, which really is something!

Included in write-in delegates on the Irwin ticket were Donald Duck, Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Mouse, Charabelle Cow, Barney Google, Weazelupus and other well known characters!

We note, with a worried frown,

HIGH SCHOOL GROUPS TO TAKE PART

County Music Teachers' Association Sponsors Annual Event

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Patrons of 12 high schools of the county are expected to pack the school auditorium here tonight to hear a program of music to be presented by 400 students in the Orange county high school music festival, sponsored by the Orange County High School Music Teachers' association.

Massed bands, comprising 100 musicians, will open the program under direction of Mr. Kirkpatrick of the Excelsior High school.

A combined group of voices from the girls glee clubs of all the schools will sing, led by Mrs. Mary Steffenson, Santa Ana. One hundred voices will represent the boys glee clubs of the county. Mrs. Ruth Harlow, Huntington Beach, will direct them. Under the baton of Percy Greene, Orange, 100 musicians in a combined orchestra, will take part in the program.

Schools represented will be Orange, Anaheim, Santa Ana, Brea-Olinda, Huntington Beach, Garden Grove, Newport Beach, Tustin, Norwalk, Valencia, Fullerton and Excelsior.

that sidewalk parking strips in Orange haven't been prepared for planting of flowers, as was done last year.

Still think that last year's campaign to fill those parkways with poppies was one of the nicest civic gestures seen in some time. Looked better than weeds.

Which brings something else to mind. About poppies. Looks like someone had planted lots of the orange flowers alongside highway 101 leading out of Santa Ana. That many just couldn't have sprouted. It's a beautiful sight to see 'em blooming. Not so hot, however, to see tourists picking 'em almost as fast as they sprout.

Why don't some thoughtful organization start a plan for planting lots of poppies alongside all our highways next spring? Have a regular planting spree and give travelers something to gasp about when they pass through our county. If anyone wants to try it, we'll help!

China expects to have 60 new defense planes, the funds for their purchase being raised by popular subscription.

MOTHER'S DAY PROGRAM IS ORANGE LEGION FEATURE

ORANGE.—Dr. Edward L. Russell, Santa Ana, was guest speaker when the Orange post, American Legion, met jointly last night with the Legion auxiliary in observance of Mother's day.

Dr. Russell's speech centered around the history of prenatal care, and what is still to be achieved. Beginning in the sixteenth century the conquest to save mothers has continued, he said. From 250 to 500 maternal deaths for every thousand births in those dark ages, we now have figures for 1934 of 16.2 deaths per 1000 births for the United States; 5.4 deaths per 1000 for California, and best of all, he added, 3.3 deaths per thousand for Orange county.

The commander, David Fairbairn, presided and gave a reading. During the business session he reported on the essay contest conducted at the district meeting at Riverside last week. George Franzen reported on other phases of the district meeting.

Orange post will have charge of services in Fairhaven cemetery Decoration day, it was announced and members will secure the speaker, firing squad and oversee decorating of graves of veterans. Commander Fairbairn requested volunteers to assist in this work.

CHURCH GROUP HAS ELECTION

ORANGE.—Election of officers featured a meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Christian church yesterday afternoon in the church parlors, with Mrs. Angeline Courtney chosen for president.

Mrs. Rebecca Pope was elected first vice president; Mrs. Frances Conner, second vice president; Mrs. M. E. Bivens, secretary; Mrs. Anna Todd, World Call secretary; Miss Emma Granger, publicity; Miss Anna Granger, literature; Miss Grace Strickland, chorister; Mrs. Grace Knolla, pianist; Mrs. V. D. Johnson, membership.

COL. FINLEY TO TALK AT G. G.

GARDEN GROVE.—Colonel S. H. Finley, secretary of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Water District, will address members of the Garden Grove Farm center May 14 at 7:30 o'clock in the Women's clubhouse. President H. Clay Kellogg has urged all interested persons to attend.

John Murdy, chairman of the Orange County Farm bureau water committee, will report on latest developments in the county water situation. Walter Schmid will report on a meeting of the county directors.

CLUB JUNIORS ELECT HEADS

ORANGE.—Junior matrons of the Woman's club elected officers at their meeting Thursday afternoon in the clubhouse with Mrs. Henry Walsworth named president for the coming year.

Mrs. Kenneth King is vice president and Mrs. Robert Swank secretary treasurer. Mrs. Robert Campbell presided over the business meeting.

Plans were completed for a section dance to be held May 15 in the clubhouse with Mrs. Robert Campbell, Mrs. Nora Evans and Mrs. George Peterson, jr., in charge.

Hostesses Thursday were Mrs. James Donegan and Mrs. Hollis Showalter. Bridge was played with Mrs. Alex Chastain winning high. One guest, Mrs. Harold Johnson, was present. Other club members present were Mesdames Donald Marsh, Carl Glasbrenner, Gerald Shyrook, Paul Nelson, Paul Muench, Christine Lambert, A. R. Benson, Fred Bewley, Russell Parks, Keller Watson, jr., James Goode and Stewart N. White.

HISTORY TOLD ROTARY CLUB

ORANGE.—Eddie De Groot, Los Angeles, past district president of the Rotary club, was speaker at the local Rotary meeting yesterday, and told the club "How Rotary Got That Way." Stanley Mansur was program chairman.

The speaker gave a history of the club, stating that Paul Harris, a Chicago lawyer, started the organization in 1905. The second club was started in San Francisco, the third in Seattle, the fourth in Oakland and the fifth in Los Angeles, he said.

SCHOOL COSTS CENTER TOPIC

CYPRESS.—Speaking on "Comparative Costs of Schools," Arthur F. Corey, assistant superintendent of schools for the county entertained members of the Cypress-Magnolia Farm center in the Magnolia building last night.

The evening opened with a pot-luck supper. Members of the Magnolia Girls' 4H club, with Mrs. G. S. Davis as leader, presented a sewing demonstration.

Death Summons Orange Woman

ORANGE.—Miss Blanche H. Leggett, 62, died Wednesday afternoon after a long illness. She is survived by her sisters, Mrs. Maude Stowell, Orange, and Mrs. Grace Vickers, Denair, Cal.

Funeral services, in charge of the Gilgoly Funeral home, will be announced later.

H. B. BUILDING GROUP NAMED

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Appointment of a chamber of commerce committee to aid city officials in planning for a new recreational building on the beach front here was announced today.

Originally Victor Terry, chairman, D. E. Berry and W. J. Ebert were named to work with the city council on the plan. Other members of the committee are C. M. Rood, Herb Wood, Boxie Huston, A. W. Frost and Dr. Douglas Hough.

This group will aid in select of a building type and will assist in speeding erection of the recreation hall and selection of plans for the structure.

Home Is Leased At Midway City

MIDWAY CITY.—Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Logan and family have leased the E. E. Leith home on South Jackson street and will take possession May 18. Miss Leith will move her beauty shop to her store building on First street as soon as improvements on the building are completed.

Mrs. Alvin Van Steenberg went to Los Angeles Wednesday to see her niece, Sammy-Joyce Tayes, who is a patient in the Orthopedic hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Tayes, parents of Sammy-Joyce, live taken an apartment in Los Angeles, to be near their daughter.

Church Topics Are Announced

WINTERSBURG.—Mrs. Myrtle Carver, Alhambra, will be soloist at the Sunday morning services of the Methodist church, it was announced today by the Rev. J. H. Thompson, pastor, who will preach the morning sermon.

A play, "A Mother's Memories," will be a feature of the evening service. Mrs. J. R. Tucker is directing the play and the cast of characters will include Mary G. Gardner, Alice Slate, David Gardner, Laddie Letson and Jessie Case.

Farm Center to Hear Taxes Talk

PLACENTIA.—R. C. Hoiles, Santa Ana publisher, will speak at a meeting of the Placentia farm center in Halber's cafe here this evening, discussing the present system of taxation and his proposed method of handling the situation, it has been announced.

Midway Group at League Meeting

MIDWAY CITY.—Mrs. Henry Kingsbury, Mrs. W. E. Moore, Mrs. Gale Dunstan and Mrs. Fred Basse, Westminster, were in Long Beach Wednesday attending a luncheon of the Women's Democratic league.

Morning Fire Damages Home at Villa Park

VILLA PARK.—The J. S. Kohler home here was partially destroyed by fire at 10 a. m. yesterday when Mrs. Kohler discovered the garage on fire. The fire rapidly spread to the house only a few feet distant. Mrs. Kohler removed her husband, who is ill, to the home of a neighbor and summoned the state forestry truck from Orange.

The garage and an automobile were completely destroyed at a loss of $200, while the roof of the house was damaged and other losses amounted to $2000, half of which was covered by insurance. Neighbors removed most of the furniture before the roof collapsed. Cause of the fire was undetermined. Charles Olds and Harry Nuffer manned the truck which answered the call.

Tourney Queen to Take Part in Harbor Fete

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Miss Barbara Nichols, lovely queen of the 1936 Pasadena Tournament of Roses, has accepted an invitation to act as a "princess" at the Newport Harbor opening May 23 and 24.

Miss Phyllis Bertina, Venice bathing beauty, accepted an invitation a few days ago. Other girls representing 12 other southland cities are expected to respond to the invitation soon and will be among the queens and princesses of Father Neptune's court.

NAME MIDWAY CHURCH HEADS

MIDWAY CITY.—The annual business meeting of the Community church was held Wednesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hazard. C. R. Hart, clerk of the board, was re-elected.

Other officers named to serve the coming year were Mrs. C. N. Jones, assistant clerk; Mrs. Katherine Kingsbury, recording clerk, and Mrs. N. A. Nelson, treasurer.

Committee members are finance, R. O. Prichard, Bert Heath and Mrs. B. L. Kirkham; social, Mrs. Fred Foley, Mrs. Alvin R. Van Steenberg, Emmaetta Hart and Mrs. Robert Hazard; flowers, Mrs. W. C. Wilson and Robina Brentlinger; music, Mrs. R. O. Prichard, Mrs. Boyd Fury and Mary Arnett; ushers, Doris Hart, Geraldine Logan, Aileen Borgen, Clarence Wasser and Clayton Van Steenberg.

House Numbering Campaign Told

GARDEN GROVE.—Houses in Garden Grove without numbers are to get them and those incorrectly numbered to be fixed right if the local Lions club can do anything about it. This was decided at a luncheon meeting Wednesday when Dr. J. C. Kraushaar was named chairman of a committee to look into the matter.

And then someone suggested that ladies of the house might object to having their numbers on the neighbors' house, so to forestall any arguments in their own homes, a "ladies' night" was planned for May 21 with Charles Lake to head the committee on arrangements.

Walter Dungan, a member of the sheriff's force, was speaker at the luncheon, telling of recent work among juveniles in the community.

Children's Day Fete Announced

GARDEN GROVE.—Plans were made and committees appointed to arrange for Children's day exercises at the Baptist church June 14 when the Sunday school board held a dinner meeting in the church bungalow Tuesday evening. The school superintendent, J. A. Knapp, also named committee to arrange for a vocational bible summer school.

Miss Dorothy Knapp and Leroy Allen, both members of the senior class at Redlands university, stopped for a brief visit with their parents Tuesday while enroute to Laguna Beach for the annual ditch day celebration of the cause.

Musical instruments exported from Germany last year were valued at $6,000,000.

GIVE 'ALI BABA' AGAIN TONIGHT

"Ali Baba and the 40 Thieves," entrancing tale of magic pass-words and fabulous, hidden wealth, will be brought to life in song and dramatic action this evening by Willard Junior High school students, presenting their third performance of the operetta at 8 o'clock in Willard auditorium.

The show is open to the public, matinee performances for junior high school pupils having been given yesterday and this afternoon. One of the most pretentious productions undertaken by the music department, the two-act dramatization of the Arabian Nights tale will have a principal cast of nine students, with a chorus of more than 100 members of the school glee clubs.

Eight Oriental dancers will form a ballet troupe, trained by Miss Wyllys Anderson. Miss Esther Jean Davis and Miss Helen Glancy are co-directors of the operetta. Leading roles are being taken by Sylvia White, Budrey Benson, Herbert Scott, Gene Snodgrass, Florine Gilbert, John Schlund, Jean Wallace, Franklin Zook and Barbara Bird.

Auction Coolidge Household Goods

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., May 8. (AP)—Household furnishings of Calvin Coolidge, characterized by his former law partner as "a bunch of junk," went under the auctioneer's hammer today.

In the presence of 400 Connecticut valley residents and a few from distant points, sundry effects of the Coolidge's old Massachusetts street home, no longer of use to the widow of the former president, were slowly disposed of by Auctioneer George Bean.

Prickly-Pear Has Poem Penned by Robert Gardner

(The following is one of a series of poems on California wildflowers by Robert Gardner, of Orange. The flowers Mr. Gardner writes about have historical significance.—Editor.)

PRICKLY-PEAR (TUNA) By Robert Gardner

DRY HILLS AND PRICKLY PEARS!
The fruit was sweet and edible. And Indians dried large quantities. For winter use. A sauce was made. By boiling it a long, long while.

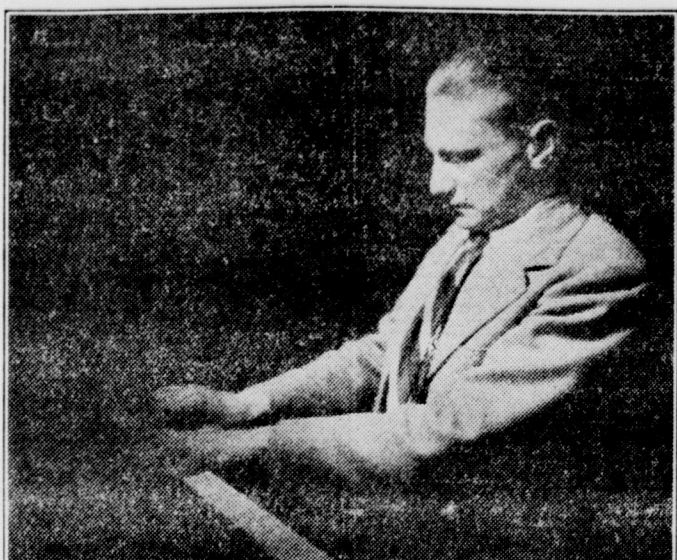

Thick leaves and leathery. With thorns to prick the animals.

They also roasted leaves. In ashes hot, and then removed. The toughened skin and prickly thorns. A slimy pulp remained to bring a teasing pleasure to the taste.

The padres planted prickly-pears. In rows around the mission grounds. No animal could penetrate. A perfect barricade of thorns.

Fruit: Purple, pulpy; juicy; oval. Leaves: Spiny; thick; impermeable skin; successively joined. Flower: Solitary; sessile; yellow or red; about three inches across. Opuntia Engelmanni. . . . Flower: Solitary; sessile; (see above).

Young Pianist Plays Here

John Crown, brilliant young pianist shown here, will be special guest artist with the Cantando club in its final concert of the season. Mr. Crown, who has been acclaimed in this country and in Europe will appear with the Cantando club at the Orange High school auditorium on May 19.

FAMED PRODIGY TO PLAY AT LAST CANTANDO CONCERT

The last concert of the 1935-1936 season will be presented by the Cantando club on May 19 under the direction of Benjamin Edwards, in the Orange Union High school auditorium. An announcement from the Cantando club said it has been fortunate in procuring as guest artist the well known pianist, John Crown.

"This 23-year-old prodigy," said the announcement, "is taking California by storm. Isabel Morse Jones, James Phillips and other critics who can 'speak as one having authority,' prophesy a brilliant future for him. Born with a great love of music, descended from a long line of musicians, also endowed with the necessary zeal to pursue the drudgery along the road to success and, lately being so fortunate as to have selected parents who could and did afford him every possible advantage, young Crown's ascent has been well-nigh meteoric.

"Most of his life has been spent in Europe where he has unceasingly studied and where his father, an opera singer, and his mother, a pianiste, continue their respective careers. Nevertheless John Crown is claimed by this country, his father being a Philadelphian by birth.

"John Crown is a graduate of the Vienna State Academy of Music and for three years artist-pupil of Moriz Rosenthal. Representing the United States, he was the first American ever to attain to one of the most coveted of all musical honors, the diploma of the 'International,' won in competition with 252 of the world's most promising young pianists, and awarded by the decision of a jury of over 50 noted musical authorities.

"Praise From Rosenthal
"The great Rosenthal says of him, 'He is already, in spite of his youthful age, a pianist of very high rank not only on the strength of an enormous and at the same time personal technique, but also for his deep understanding of great composers like Beethoven and Chopin and his powerful renderings of the piano literature.'
"Mr. Crown has appeared in concert before a great many of the Southland, who without exception, sing his praises to the skies. He has been very popular with the college students at U. C. L. A., which is saying he has style and personality, for American collegians are not given to asking a pianist back five times in one year to play classic and ultra-moderns because the professors recommend him."

WEED CLEARING STARTS SOON

A campaign to rid vacant lots in Santa Ana of weeds will be launched next Monday by the city engineer, according to an announcement made through City Engineer J. L. McBride's office today. Mr. McBride urged property owners to take care of the job of cleaning the lots themselves, pointing out that if it becomes necessary for the city to handle the job, property owners will be billed for the work.

Owners who have their lots cleared of weeds are asked to report to the city engineer who in turn will order an inspection. In order to avoid the expense of having the lots cleaned of weeds by the city, Mr. McBride said the owners could do the jobs and then have them given official approval by his office.

Advise 'Wise Use' Of U. S. Radios

NEW YORK, May 8. (AP)—Freedom of speech by radio in this country can remain unrestricted only "by its wise use and not its abuse," declared Lenox R. Lohr, new president, and M. H. Aylsworth, former president and now vice chairman of the board, in a combined statement to the annual meeting of the advisory council of the National Broadcasting Company.

"Those who demand unlimited 'freedom' must not forget that their very demands for such a privilege may result in abuse of license, which may bring undesirable restriction," the statement said, "of all the countries in the world, freedom of speech is less restricted in the United States than elsewhere. By its wise use, and not its abuse, it will remain so."

Anti-Liquor Group Seeks Church Help

LOS ANGELES, May 8. (AP)—A three-fold program, which appeals for church support, is outlined for the California Anti-Saloon League by George Y. Hammond, superintendent.

Local option is the first objective, Hammond told a group of Presbyterian ministers. Next are the abolition of the advertising and display of liquor, and legislation making liquor manufacturers and distributors financially liable "for the care of their victims and dependents."

Hammond asked church aid in obtaining 186,000 signatures to a petition placing local option on the November ballot.

Uneasy Ruler
Writes Nocturnal
Note on Nightball

Title for today's effort—"Uneasy Lies the Head That Wears the Crown," or "Joe Rodgers Is Getting a Mild Case of Ork Orks."

Believing in that mystery legend of newspaperdom—that someone is always working in the sports department, night or day—Joe invaded The Journal sanctum last night at something like 10 o'clock. He knew that like the thief who eventually returns to the scene of his crime, someone in the department would drop around before bed-time. He was right, although this time it was our able assistant Paul Wright instead of yours truly who tripped in about bed-time. We had an over-due date with Morpheus.

Now any ball manager who has a big opening game coming up the next day must have a swell excuse to be hanging around in a rival town so late at night. The Huntington Beach tycoon of nightball had a good reason—proffering of late news for tonight's game—but bass-ball was also preying on his mind.

Joe has a twice-won title to look after and that's a man-sized job in any league. One can't blame him for crossing his fingers and looking over the field with anxious eye. Joe is confident his Ollers can make it three in a row, but also is wise enough not to be overconfident.

Fact is, though he may not admit it, Santa Ana and Anaheim teams have made Rodgers take an extra hitch at his belt and a determined tug at his tie—a determined nightball cap. He sees danger ahead, he thinks.

Sensing that fans thirst for his view of the situation, Joe spent his waiting time jotting down notes. And saved us the trouble of digging for today.

"We are still the champions until they knock us off the diamond," he notes. "Let them come. I know they will all be gunning their best to knock us off, but that is what we like."

With his own position made clear—and emphasis placed on the undisputed fact that Huntington Beach is in no wise weaker than last year—he turns his pencil to other teams.

"Santa Ana has a tough team and with Lackaye at the helm will be right on our necks. We concede Santa Ana nothing and they feel the same toward us, so it will be a fight to the finish."

"If Anaheim gets any pitching they will be a threat. String McDowell is still able to pitch good ball. Errington looks out of shape and will have to improve to put Westminster in the running. Jack Dugan is a fine pitcher and will win some games for Olive."

"There won't be many runs scored this year. There is no doubt in my mind that the changes made this year in the game (longer base lines, longer pitching distance and smaller ball), helped the pitcher more than the batter. You'll see plenty of plays at second that one didn't get last year."

He frankly picks his Ollers to lead the pack, with Santa Ana trailing. Olive and Anaheim are toss-up choices for third with Westminster fifth and Orange sixth.

7:30 p. m.—First National Bank vs. M. E. South; 9 p. m.—Elks vs. Knights of Columbus.

Pitcher Roy Stout, red-headed right-hander, whose alleged signing with the B. P. O. E. champions and the Commercial National Bank has created a spirited controversy between these arch rivals, probably will be released to Manager Gene Hitt of the First National Bank.

This significant news came to the front last night while the First Nationals, bunting their opponent "to death," scored a smashing 22-2 victory over the Carpenters' Local, and Mearl Youel pitched four-hit ball for the Commercial National Bank in the season's first shut-out over Knights of Columbus, 9-0, at the Municipal bowl.

Kenneth Miller, manager of the champion Elks, said today he wanted Stout to play ball, and would be willing to allow him to pitch for a team other than the Commercial National. Harold Finley, manager of the Commercial, said he would consider releasing Stout to the First Nationals, in a brief conference with Manager Hitt last night.

Stout has expressed a keen desire to join the First Nationals, but the Elks of Columbus did not appear of upper-dive caliber in willing before the seasoned pitching of Youel, while his bankmates combed the offerings of Joe Ochoa for nine hits, including home runs by Russell Sullivan, Jerry Heard and Ed Gaudin.

MIDGET DIAZ STEALS RING SHOW HERE

By BOB GUILD

Four heavyweights—count 'em—were destined to supply the headline thrills at last night's Highway 101 festival of swat. But Fullerton's beetle-browed Lupe Lemon with a pocketful of popcorn was the only big boy on the scene of action, and it fell to tiny Midget Diaz, who weighs about as much as one of Lupe's legs, to garner all the glory.

Baby Badge pulled an iron man on Santa Ana's spidery Johnny Chavez and Los Angeles' Carl Hall, copping two decisions with a stirring display of pugacity and courage. Chavez, fighting from a shell, was no match for the mite from Ontario, who swarmed all over him spasmodically and came home an easy winner.

The Carl Hall fighter was none too substantial about the middle, and Badge, who was tiring near the end, coasted in by mixing rights to the basket and volleys to the head. Hall was courageous and inept.

Raul Solis, the Baer caricature, whipped dusky Jimmy DuValle of Los Angeles in the main event, and gave a good exhibition of the old saw about "licking you with one hand tied behind me." Solis might as well have left his right hand home, but embarrassed Mr. DuValle considerably with a straight left that brought nose-bleed and tears in equal portions throughout the four rounds.

Everett (they call me Frenchy) Jure dropped a disputed decision to rhythmic Willie Fields of Los Angeles in the special event. The referee's nod was much abused, but merited, looks like. Frenchy fought his usual fight, but the Negro lad was cooler and actually piled up a nice margin with concentrated counter-punching. To Jure's ultimate embarrassment.

The rest of the card, unfortunately, was "one of those things." Eddie Baker of Ontario outpointed Charlie Woods of Los Angeles; Chester Parks of Los Angeles came in ahead of Coronado; and Hobson, glass-chinned Larry Thomas managed to stand up four rounds against scowling Gerald Berry, and Joe Orona copped a ho-hum battle from Walt (Mickey Mouse) Jones of Los Angeles.

Thirteen J. C. Track Squads Vie Saturday

Thirteen junior colleges, Santa Ana included, will congregate on Pomona college field, Claremont, tomorrow afternoon for their annual assault on Southern California records in the Eastern-Western division track-and-field classic.

Threatening only in the broad jump, pole vault, low hurdles and shot put, Coach A. J. (Bill) Cook's Dons will take a back seat while Riverside and Fullerton, cream of the Eastern ranks, attempt to wrest the association crown from the Western conference led by Glendale and Los Angeles.

Erwin Miller, Fullerton's former state prep champ who recently set a new Eastern division record of 48.7 seconds, should send into discard the 43.9 standard of Jim McDonald, Glendale's 1935 sensation.

Three other records will be in danger.

Earl Vickery, Chaffey's hurdling king, was clocked in 23.7 at the Eastern meet, and on the lightning-fast Chaffey track probably will eclipse the 23.9 mark set by Lucian Wilson of Santa Ana last year. San Bernardino's leather-junged Bill Smith has eyes on the two-mile record of 9 min. 51.4 secs. held by Lewis of Los Angeles. George McRae of Glendale, who did 4:27.1 earlier in the season, will be out to break the mile.

Santa Ana entries: Frank Ochoa, 880; Joe Frias, two-mile; Frank Boyd, Bill Greschner and Bob Reif, high and low hurdles; Greschner, Art Craft and Wilburn Anderson, shot put; Jimmy Noe, pole vault; Al Parr, broad jump; Bob Clark, javelin.

Southern California records:
100-yard dash—Pollock (Riverside), 9.6 secs., 1934.

Errington and Seacord Smash Homers During Opener Last Night

"I'm leading the league," Big Ben Gelker of Olive chanted today, as he enthusiastically discussed how the Grenadiers, behind the four-hit pitching of Jack Dugan, trounced Westminster's Aviators in the National league's nightball opener at Olive last night.

Elwynn (Fuzzy) Errington, Westminster pitcher, showed the Flyers off to a one-run lead with a homer to right field in the third, but Olive came back in the last part of the same inning to score four runs on as many hits.

Olive's four-run spurge followed Roy Hahne's strike-out. Frank Bath tripled to center. Dugan was safe on Les Hoser's error at short. Emmett Seacord singled, scoring Bath and Dugan. Randolph Bell and Joe Wallin singled to left. Ervin (Baldy) Foltz walked. Fred Gunther smashed a fly to deep left that allowed Bell to score from third.

Seacord, making his debut with Olive, led both teams at the plate with a single and a homer, his four-ply swat coming in the fourth with Frank Bath aboard.

Olive plays at Santa Ana next Tuesday.

Hosts to Stars

Mighty monarch of Southern California nightball, Huntington Beach; and the supreme challenger to another spotless season for Joe Rodgers' championship band, Santa Ana, square off at Huntington Beach in their 1936 premiere at 8 o'clock tonight.

Five hundred extra seats have been installed to accommodate an over-flow crowd.

Pairs Play-Off Rivals
The refreshing opener renews a feud climaxed last September when the Ollers and Stars waged a hammer-and-tongs battle for the National league title, Huntington Beach emerging victorious in a seventh and deciding game before 5,500 fans at the Municipal bowl.

Russian Louie Neve, perhaps the most colorful figure in the after-dinner sport, is in "rare pitching and hitting form," in the words of Manager Rodgers. His mound rival will be Santa Ana's Jimmy Coates, who held up remarkably well under the fire of the '35 series.

With the exception of one player in each line, Santa Ana and Huntington Beach will field the same combination of the bitter play-offs of last summer. Clarence (Nan) Coats, first baseman who hit .416 for Anaheim, will be representing the Stars instead of Mearl Urbine; and Pete Osborn, .290 swinger from Long Beach, has returned to the Ollers, his old teammates.

From a standpoint of 1935 batting averages, Santa Ana will carry a distinct edge.

Three Above .400
The Stars possess three regulars who hit above the .400 clip last year. They are Al Reboin, .468; Clarence (Nan) Coats, .416; and Francis Conrad, .402.

The Ollers' best hitter, with Third-Base man Bill McKinley benched for two weeks with a slight rupture, is Centerfielder Orville Schuchardt with a formidable mark of .392.

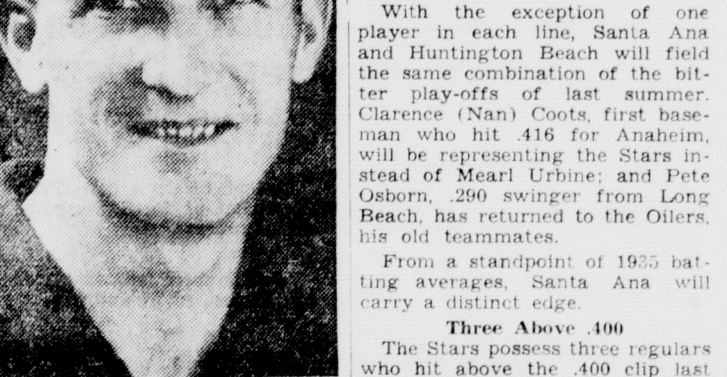

Santa Ana outfit Huntington Beach with comparative team averages of .349 and .311 last season. The Ollers won the flag because their hits came when they meant runs.

The Stars usher in the new campaign with a vital possession they did not have in 1935—a seasoned manager. George Lackaye, ex-Westminster pilot, will be at the helm, and his experienced leadership should have telling effect, observers believe.

Starting lineups and 1935 batting averages:

Huntington Beach—Henry Thier (322), 2b; Orv Schuchardt (.392), cf; Pete Osborn (.290), rf; George Murray (.366), 3b; Louie Neve (.337), p; Joe Rodgers (.271), ss; Paul Neve (.333), lf; Merv Lower (.261), c; and Bob Smith (.226), 1b.

Santa Ana—Tom Denney (.379), lf; Francis Conrad (.402), ss; Clarence Coats (.416), 1b; George Preble (.260), 2b; Al Reboin (.468), cf; Ray Smith (.323), rf; Tom Young (.339), 3b; Ben Koral (.178), c; and Jim Coates (.381), p.

While he's in the role of host, Joe Rodgers, above, hopes the Santa Ana Stars "fall" at Huntington Beach were the local team opens the 1936 National night ball season at the beach diamond. Orv Schuchardt, below, is the heavy-hitting centerfielder for the Southern California champions.

Golden Sox Keep Ahead Of Yankees

(By The Associated Press)

Boston's Golden Soxers wound up their home stay yesterday by maintaining a half-point margin over the climbing Yankees in second place, but the most consistent performance of the day was turned in by the hard-luck team of the league, Rogers Hornsby's Browns.

Despite his laments that he has been unable to obtain a "professional" pitching staff, Hornsby has sent an otherwise respectable aggregation onto the field, and it has won only three times. Eleven straight defeats now stand in the record and the team started off the season by dropping the first five games.

Yanks Coming
The "dark horse" team of the league took the field against the Belting Barons of Boston yesterday and was defeated 9-6 with Jimmie Fox lacing out two homers for Boston. The New York Yankees, making a grand bid to overhaul the leading Red Sox, kept pace by virtue of a brace of circuit smashes by Bill Dickey which enabled them to defeat the champion Detroit Tigers 5-2. Both the Red Sox and Yankees now have won four straight.

The Cleveland Indians, also very much in the American league fight, continued their upward march by defeating the Philadelphia Athletics 4-3 for their sixth straight victory over the string in which every starting pitcher has finished his game. In the fourth American league game the Chicago White Sox downed the Washington Senators 11-6.

Joe Throws Gem
In the National circuit the Pirates added to the Western misfortunes of the Giants by beating them 6-2; the Cubs out-slugged the Bees 9-8; the Cardinals nosed out the Phillies 3-2; and the Dodgers put two wins together by beating the Reds 7-4.

A good section of New York's Italian quarter was on hand to see the three men of Mussolini DiMaggio, Crosetti and "Push-over" Tony Lazzeri—perform for the Yankees. Joe, the rookie, wasn't as potent with the budgeon as he had been in previous games, but he turned in a throwing gem, catching Pete Fox at the plate and preventing the tying run.

Billy Herman, the doubles king, belted his second of two innings and his fourteenth of the season to give the Cubs their win over the Bees. The defeat of the Giants was their sixth in eight starts since the invasion of foreign compounds.

It takes 40 or 50 pounds of maple sap to make a gallon of syrup weighing 11 pounds.

Padre Soutspaws Blank Missions

(By The Associated Press)

San Diego soutsdown shut out the San Francisco Missions on two successive days and shoved the Reds down into a three-way tie with Portland and the San Francisco Seals for third place in the Pacific Coast league.

Wally Hebert repeated the five-hit performance of Ed Wells as the Padres set the Missions down 4-0 yesterday.

Portland oozed up into the third place tie by winning 5-3 from Seattle behind the five-hit pitching of "Hobo" Carson.

The Seals came into the picture by winning what was billed as a baseball game from Los Angeles 16-13. Eleven runs came in the tenth and fortunately the final inning.

Three home runs and a triple were smacked out by Steve Barth. Seal third baseman in six times up as his contribution to San Francisco's 21 hits. He also contributed two errors to the seven in the game.

Oakland relied on Wee Willie Ludolph, ace moundman of the circuit, to break Sacramento's winning streak as the Oaks won 12-4. It was Ludolph's seventh win without a defeat.

Apostoli Battles Risko Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8. (AP)—Middleweight Champion Eddie "Babe" Risko stakes prestige but not his title in a 10-round bout here tonight with a home town favorite, Fred Apostoli, former national amateur champion.

The two will weigh in over the 160-pound limit. It will be Risko's third non-title bout on the Pacific coast and the second time he has gone into the ring as the short-end within the last few weeks.

He lost to Freddie Steele, the favorite, in Seattle recently. Apostoli's followers are so confident he can take the measure of the titleholder they have installed their choice a favorite on odds ranging from 10 to 8 to 2 to 1.

J. C. VISITING DAY PLANNED

In anticipation of a visit from approximately 800 graduating seniors from the various high schools in Orange county, final plans for greeting of guests were revealed today by Chris Ema and Phyllis Hannah, hospitality chairman of that phase of the ninth annual Fiesta day celebration held at Santa Ana Junior college.

According to the plans submitted to Harris Warren, chairman for the day's activities, there will be 11 tables, one for each of the county high schools, with two former students in charge of each and checking the graduates as they receive their free tickets for the afternoon and evening performances. Each club will have three members at the various tables. Two guides from each of the service clubs will conduct the students on extended tours of the campus showing in detail the various facilities offered by the college.

TENANS SEEK DUST MASKS

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP)—Prospects of new dust storms, brought by early spring dusters of mild intensity, sent Panhandle area citizens for dust masks. A supply of 600 at the Red Cross office here was depleted quickly and officials gave out directions for home-made masks of cheese cloth.

At "The Command Performance," the Fiesta production, directed by Ernest Crozier Phillips, jaycee drama instructor, there will be four ushers, one from each of the men's organizations and several from the women's clubs. The play will be presented at Willard auditorium at 8:15 p. m. for guests only. The next evening, however, the play will be open to the jaycee students and the public.

DETECTIVE'S MEMORY PUTS G-MEN ON MAHAN'S TRAIL

BUTTE, Mont., May 8. (AP)—A boxing detective with a photographic memory smashed William Mahan's adventure in "big time" crime and gave federal agents a vital piece of their solution of the $200,000 kidnaping of George Weyerhaeuser, 39-year-old Tacoma, Wash., timber heir.

Behind the chance spotting of the scar-faced Mahan by Detective James E. Mooney of Butte lay a crooked career of a blacksmith turned bank robber and a farm boy transformed into a swaggering desperado at 32.

On Way Home Mooney, former crack A. E. F. lightweight, was en route home from night duty. It was Sunday morning, June 9, just eight days after the Weyerhaeuser lad had freed by his captors. Harmon M. Waley and his wife had been seized secretly in Salt Lake City the day before by "G" men, who assertedly obtained a confession naming Mahan as one of the kidnap gang.

Mooney was driving slowly as he passed the intersection of Dakota and Iron streets. Suddenly he recognized Mahan on the sidewalk—the man he had helped arrest in 1927 in Butte for a huge Rathdrum, Ia., bank robbery.

Dog Halts Him

Mahan recognized Mooney. He ran, wildly through a nearby lawn. Mooney pursued on foot. Across a board backyard fence went Mahan, hurdling the barrier with ease. As Mooney got to the top of the fence "Jiggs," an Airedale watchdog, aroused by the fugitive, rushed out in Mooney's path. Mooney beat the dog off but the few moments that slipped by gave Mahan time to get away.

"Just as I saw Mahan, he saw me," Mooney related the episode later, "and he started to run. I started after him. He jumped a backyard fence and fled past a big dog."

"When I jumped the fence the dog came at me snarling. I saw I couldn't get by unless I shot the dog, so I climbed back over the fence and let Mahan go."

Later, after Mooney reported the incident at headquarters, Mahan's abandoned automobile was found on a street near the "G" men in the car was about $15,000 in currency which later was identified as part of the Weyerhaeuser ransom money.

TROTT TO OPEN NEW QUARTERS

After five and one-half years in Santa Ana, H. R. Trott, jeweler, tomorrow opens the doors of his new store at the new location, "on the corner" at Fifth and Sycamore, across from the Public Library.

In December, 1930, Mr. Trott arrived in Santa Ana, and opened a watch and clock repair shop at 506 North Broadway. His only equipment was one small show case, a table he used for a work bench, a kit of tools, and a determination to give satisfaction to all.

Mr. Trott served his apprenticeship in the Waltham School of Horology at Waltham, Mass. For 25 years he was connected with the leading watch and clock factories in the country and traveled all of the 48 states and countries in North and South America.

"It was one of my trips to California, that I first passed through Orange county and Santa Ana, on my way to San Diego," said Mr. Trott today, "and on this trip I was so infatuated with the beauties and perfect climatic conditions of this section, that I determined at some time to become a resident of this fair city; this hope came true in 1930, and although I have had my ups and downs, like everyone, since coming here, still my belief in the future of this community and my love for its people has never grown less."

Mr. Trott was appointed local watch inspector of the Santa Fe railroad last year. He has now three professional watch repair men employed the year round, and still takes a hand at the bench daily on special and intricate repair work.

A cordial invitation is extended all to visit H. R. Trott, Jeweler.

'Good Night' Irks Radio Commission

PITTSBURGH, May 8. (AP)—John Charles Thomas, baritone, threatened today to quit radio broadcasting if the federal radio commission forbids him to close his programs with "good night, mother."

He asserted the commission described these words constituted personal communication, banned on the air.

Thomas said that he told the commission he would continue to close with "Goodnight, mother," or would say "Good-bye, broadcasting." Since then, he has not heard from the commission.

Thomas said his "good night" is addressed to his mother, Mrs. Dora Thomas, of Maryland.

State's Editors to Be Honored at Fair

SAN DIEGO, May 8. (AP)—California newspaper publishers will be honored at the exposition May 15 and 16.

Frank Rospaw, Placentia, president of the California Publishers' Association, is arranging the program.

A cablegram was dispatched to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in England asking him to participate via short wave radio in ceremonies in connection with Lindbergh day at the exposition Sunday.

"On the corner" tomorrow, at his formal new home opening.

Use This Recipe to Give Your Family a Treat with FRESH STRAWBERRY JAM

PURCHASE 6 boxes ripe strawberries, 6 pounds of sugar, and 1 can M. C. P. Liquid Pectin. Stem and wash all the berries. Crush thoroughly with potato masher or quart milk bottle.

One Recipe

Measure 4 1/2 cups crushed berries into an 8 quart kettle. Add 7 cups of sugar (equals 3 pounds). Bring to a boil, meanwhile stirring. Now add 1/2 can M. C. P. Liquid Pectin (which is equal to 1/2 standard measuring cup.) Boil to jelly test (see illustration on reverse side of M. C. P. Liquid Pectin label).

The 6 boxes of berries and 1 can of M. C. P. Liquid Pectin will make exactly two recipes. Do not attempt to cook all the fruit and sugar at one time. The addition of 3 or 4 tablespoons of M. C. P. Natural Canned Lemon Juice improves the flavor and consistency of your strawberry jam.

DURANT URGES POLYGAMY Wants 'More Vigorous Race'

NEW YORK, May 8. (AP)—An assertion by Dr. Will Durant, author and philosopher, that "polygamy has a more eugenic effect than monogamy," aroused a lively argument at the annual meeting of the American Eugenics Society today.

Dr. Durant declared that among primitive peoples, where polygamy was prevalent, the races were more vigorous than the present modern peoples.

Dr. Foster Wood, secretary of the committee on marriage and the family, disputed the assertion. Dr. Durant replied he did not advocate polygamy as a solution for the eugenic ills of the world, adding he was speaking only in an historical sense.

Dr. Durant, in an address, proposed that, as a means of encouraging a more vigorous race, the middle class, income tax exemptions for dependent children be doubled.

He also advocated lowering the birthrate among those less fit for parenthood by segregation or sterilization of all persons sufficiently feeble-minded to require public care and by the dissemination of birth control information.

Work Cures Doctor, Mildly Mad After Retirement

ST. LOUIS, May 8. (AP)—Mild insanity, the penalty of retiring from work at 70, cured by going back on the job, was described recently to the American Psychiatric association by Lawrence C. Woolley, M. D., of Towson, Maryland.

The mental trouble is known as the "psychasthenic reaction." Its symptoms are such things as being afraid of dogs and the dark, mice or elephants, or, for ultra-moderns, fear of dirt because it contains germs. The trouble is a degenerative state which seems able to produce bogymen about anything.

The man who went mildly mad over the bogey of retirement was wealthy, and 70 went he quit. From childhood, Dr. Woolley said, this man had been overconscientious. He had been extremely methodical, very dependent on routine. He was likely to become anxious when not occupied.

Right after retirement he "exhibited anxiety, obsessive thinking, doubting 'mania' and 'indication'."

Return to work, Dr. Woolley said, cured him in four days.

Once previously in his long life he had shown a similar mania. That was at 60 when a vacation set him off. Return to work after vacation restored his mental balance, but on that first occasion the healing process required several months.

This type of mental trouble Dr. Woolley diagnosed as "a special defense against prolonged states of anxious tension."

The Story of Our Missions

Twenty-one Franciscan missions were founded in California by the Rev. Fray Junipero Serra, extending from San Diego to what is now Sonoma county. They are among California's priceless landmarks. The state department of public works has prepared brief histories of them with directions how to reach them. They will be taken up in the order of their locations from south to north, rather than in the sequence of their founding. The sixth installment, telling the story of how Father Serra founded Mission San Fernando Rey de Espana, follows:

MISSION SAN FERNANDO REY DE ESPANA

Founded Sept. 8, 1797

That zealous padre and devoted friend of Father Junipero Serra, Fr. Juan Crespi, appears, in the light of history, to have been gifted with a divine intuition in the matter of unerring judgment in the selection of mission sites. He discovered several of them.

Marching from San Diego to Monterey with Gaspar de Portola's expedition in 1769, Fr. Crespi looked with the eye of a missionary upon the Valley Encino where, on August 5 of that year, Portola camped with his forces. The priest wrote to Father Serra that the site was an excellent one for a Franciscan station.

In August, 1795, Fr. Presidente Francisco de Lasuen dispatched an exploring party from Mission San Buenaventura with instructions to locate a suitable spot for a mission between that point and Mission San Gabriel, near Los Angeles.

This and subsequent parties made exhaustive explorations and recommendations, but in the end it was found that Encino valley, first come upon by Father Crespi, and named by him Santa Catalina de Bonaonia de los Encinos, was the best location. And there Father Lasuen decided to build Mission San Fernando Rey.

The Fr. Presidente of the California missions was 75 years of age in August, 1797, when, with Sergeant Ignacio Olivera and five soldiers, he set out from Mission Santa Barbara to establish San Fernando Rey, fifth in geographic order of the Franciscan missions on the Camino Real, but seventh in sequence of founding.

For clarity and conciseness, Father Lasuen's report to Governor Borica on the establishment of San Fernando Rey is a literary gem. It is in the Santa Barbara Mission Archives and as published by Father Engelhardt, mission historian, is worthy of repetition here. It follows:

"Viva Jesus!"

"Senor Gobernador—My dear Senor: I have the happy satisfaction to communicate to Your Honor that today the solemn feast of the Nativity of Mary Most Holy, on this suitable spot called by the natives Ahois Comihabit, between the Missions of San Buenaventura and San Gabriel, with the assistance of the Rev. Fr. Francisco Dumetz, destined for this Mission, the troops assigned to guard the new establishment, and in the presence of many pagans of both sexes and all ages, who manifested a good deal of pleasure and satisfaction, I blessed the water, the site and a large cross, which we planted and venerated. I concluded the function by solemnly singing the Te Deum. Having finished this, in the same little arbor in which I celebrated the holy Sacrifice of the Mass, I blessed the Baptismal Font and then baptized those offered. Thanks be to God! Thus we took possession of the site by dedicating it in honor of the glorious San Fernando, King of Spain, and in this manner beginning the Mission under that sacred title in conformity with the orders of His Excellency, Marquis de Branciforte, Viceroy of New Spain, and with those of Your Honor. God our Lord keep Your Honor in His holy Grace many years. Mission San Fernando, established September 8, 1797. Fr. Fermin Francisco de Lasuen.—To Col. Com. Don Diego Borica."

The unquenchable spirit of Fr. Lasuen is revealed by ancient records which show that in June, 1797, he left Mission San Carlos de Monterey, established the Mission San Jose north of the city of San Jose in what is now Santa Clara county on June 11; marched to a place about 15 miles east of what now is Watsonville and founded the Mission Juan Bautista on June 24; turned south and on July 25 on El Camino Real established Mission San Miguel, and then trudged on into the south to found San Fernando on Sept. 8.

Baptism Same Day
Fr. Lasuen was proud of the fact that he baptized an Indian child on the same day that he created Mission San Fernando and recorded the event in these words: "So on the spot, in the same little arbor in which I had celebrated the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, I blessed the baptismal water and solemnly baptized Fernando Maria, about four years of age, called in paganism Coyohuoch, son of Mayaso and of Chemayo, from the rancharia of Aichoconinga."

It would appear that the first mission of San Fernando, a small adobe building, was blessed on Nov. 28, for on that date there appears in the old mission records a notation that the forty-third baptism took place therein, all other baptisms having been solemnized in the "little arbor."

Construction of buildings at San Fernando, granaries and adobes for the priests, Indians and soldiers proceeded rapidly and in 1799 a new church edifice was erected. In 1804, 70 additional adobe houses for the neophytes were built. The number of converts was almost 1000. The year 1806 saw the completion of a grander church, more granaries, a tannery and other structures. "The Mission of the Valley," as San Fernando Rey was known, was prospering.

Finished in 12 Years

Visitors to San Fernando Rey are greatly impressed by the unique long building, 243 feet in length, known as the "House of the Fathers." Old records show reports of progress in its construction beginning in December, 1810, and running to Dec. 31, 1822, on which date Father Ibarra reported its completion after 12 years' labor.

Poor Father Ibarra! The story of his devotion to San Fernando Rey and its Indians is a pathetic one. He saw the mission in its wonderful golden years and during the civil years of its deepest despair preceding its confiscation by Gov. Pio Pico.

The revolt of Mexico against Spain starting in 1810 brought misery to San Fernando Rey as well as the other California missions. From 1811 until the end of the missionary period, San Fernando was compelled to support the idle soldiers and their families, furnishing food, clothing and pay. From 1822 to 1827, San Fernando contributed to the Santa Barbara presidio alone supplies amounting to $21,203.

All money and supplies for the military had to be produced by the Indians of the mission and payment was enforced over the vigorous protests of Father Ibarra. The Indian converts became virtual slaves of the soldiers and Mexican politicians. The latter, led by Governor Echeandia, coveted the mission lands, which they and their successors finally obtained by theft and fraud.

Damaged by Quake

The earthquake of 1812 caused considerable damage to the mission and buildings, but repairs and reconstruction were undertaken immediately. In 1819 there were 1080 neophytes enrolled and in spite of military and political oppression, San Fernando Rey was in a prosperous state.

Preparatory to seizing the mission, Echeandia demanded from Fr. Ibarra in 1827 an inventory of all lands and property and that inventory showed, among other things, that the mission possessed 6000 head of cattle and 8000 sheep. In that year, Echeandia announced a plan to make San Fernando Rey a pueblo, emancipate the Indians and designate the missionary in charge as pastor of the natives. He failed in this.

Four years later Manuel Victoria was sent to California as governor and was endeavoring to help the Franciscan missions when he was overthrown by Pio Pico and his followers, including Echeandia, and on Aug. 9, 1834, Jose Figueroa, who had become governor, issued his decree confiscating all California missions. In October of that year, Lieut. Antonio de Valle was directed by the governor to take charge of San Fernando Rey as a paid administrator. His inventory valued the mission and its holdings at $41,714.

Ill Priest Dies

Ill from grief and heartbroken, Father Ibarra, probably out of his mind as a result of his sorrows, fled from San Fernando to Sonora, Mexico, in June, 1835, unable to remain and see the complete destruction of all his years of toil. With him went Father Estenaga of Mission San Gabriel, who had undergone similar treatment at the hands of the politicians. Their destruction was akin to apostasy from their order, but Fr. Garcia Duran, the commissary prefect, understood their motives and forgave them. Father Ibarra returned to San Fernando in October, 1836, and Fr. Estenaga went back to San Gabriel. Father Ibarra died, broken in spirit, at San Diego.

Father Ibarra struggled along under various political regimes until Dec. 5, 1845, when Governor Pico "leased" the mission and lands to his brother, Andres Pico, and to Juan Manso at a yearly rental of $1120. The following year he sold the mission to Eulogio Celis for $14,000.

As was the case with the other missions, American occupation put an end to Pico and his ilk and on May 31, 1862, President Abraham Lincoln returned San Fernando Rey to Catholic church.

Restoration of this old mission, which was begun in 1897 by the Landmark club, has made of it one of California's beauty spots. Here is beautiful Brand park, the land for which was presented to the city of Los Angeles by the Mission Land company in 1920. The original star-shaped fountain built more than a century ago by the Indians under direction of the padres was given in 1922 to the park by L. C. Brand, who had it removed from the old mission fields. Here also is "Memory Garden" in which are olive trees dedicated to the famous men who took part in the conquest of California, and pepper trees raised from seed gathered from the aged trees planted at Mission San Luis Rey. The Oblate Fr. Thomas took charge of San Fernando Rey in August, 1923, erected a church for Mexicans in 1925 and established there a school.

How to Get There

Mission visitors motoring from south to north over the "Trail of the Padres" pass through the city of Los Angeles. From Seventh and Broadway, in the heart of downtown Los Angeles, the route is out Broadway to San Fernando road, state highway route 4, U. S. 99, known as the inland route to San Francisco, to the city of San Fernando, a distance of 17 miles. From the main highway, Mission Bell signs direct the visitor to San

BELGIUM SPY PLOT UNCOVERED

VERVIERES, Belgium, May 8. (AP)—Discovery of a spy plot in an underground fort in the district of Liege was reported by police today. It was stated that the leader of the alleged plot had been arrested, that several workmen were involved, and that other arrests were imminent. Police withheld further details.

Locomotives and cars from all over the United States are sent for repairs to the army's railroad shops at Fort Banning, Ga.

Fernando Rey de Espana, about one mile from the center of the business section of the city.

Visitors from the north may motor through San Joaquin valley over state route 4 which leads direct to San Fernando. Or, coming south over El Camino Real, state route 2, U. S. 101, known as the Coast highway, the motorist will turn east at Montalvo, just south of Ventura, and travel state route 118 through Satcoy and Moor park direct to San Fernando.

Bomb Victim Aids In Skull Mystery

LOS ANGELES, May 7. (AP)—Harley McCoy, injured when a bomb killed Dr. William D. Moriarty and his wife here April 14, volunteered today to go to the desert near Yuma, Ariz., in an effort to solve the mystery presented by a crushed human skull.

The supposed gold ventures in Mexico of Dr. Moriarty, University of Southern California professor, led Sheriff T. H. Newman of Yuma to seek McCoy's aid. Chief Criminal Deputy William J. Bright of the Los Angeles sheriff's office said that McCoy informed the officers he was in the desert near Wellton, Ariz., around the time the man whose skull was found was believed to have been killed.

McCoy said that while he was in the desert camp, Bright declared, he fired once into the brush at what he thought was a prowler, but believed that he did not hit anyone.

SPRING BLIZZARD ISOLATES COLORADO TOWN; DAMAGE HEAVY

TRINIDAD IS BLANKETED BY SNOW

Utility Poles Down in District; City Does Without Lights

WALSBERG, Colo., May 8. (AP)—Trinidad, southern Colorado coal mining center of 11,000 population, was almost completely isolated today in a sudden spring blizzard that blanketed the country with almost two feet of snow.

Highways were blocked and both telephone and telegraphic communication was disrupted. There was more than one foot of snow on the ground here. Beginning with a light drizzle and snow late yesterday the storm gained in intensity during the night. A light fall continued this morning.

Telephone and telegraph poles fell under the weight of the snow, and the utility company reported the city would be without electric service for at least three days.

They could not estimate the damage in the surrounding rural districts.

Passengers on a bus from the north, which arrived here five hours late, waded in the snow to help the driver lift telephone poles from the highway.

BUSES AND TRUCKS STRANDED ON PASS

RATON, N. M., May 8. (AP)—Five passenger buses and four trucks were reported stranded on Raton pass south of Morley, Colo., today by a spring storm that left a four-foot blanket of snow in Southern Colorado and Northern New Mexico.

PART OF WYOMING ALSO BLANKETED

ON THE POLITICAL FRONT

LAWRENCE W. ROBERT

(By The Associated Press)

Lawrence W. (Chip) Robert, the handsome 45-year-old former assistant secretary of the treasury, will control the Democratic purse strings in the east in the coming campaign.

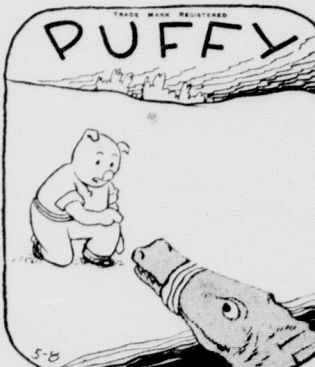

Walter J. Cummings of Chicago is treasurer, and Robert is only his assistant, but Cummings' business connections will confine his activities to the middle west during the campaign.

Head of a nationally known firm of architects and engineers, with branch offices in New York and Washington, Robert will be able to keep in close contact with Democratic headquarters in both these cities.

Robert, whose youth and dynamic personality made him one of the best known members of the "little cabinet" in Washington, has a background of intensive business activity. In addition to helping finance President Roosevelt's campaign for re-election he also will assist W. Forbes Morgan, secretary of the national committee, in the issuance of the book commemorating the national convention at Philadelphia in June.

ORDER BIG PIPE LINE

LOS ANGELES, May 8. (AP)—The valley pipe line company, Texas and Seaboard oil subsidiary, has ordered constructed a 70-mile, 10-inch pipe line from Kettleman hills to Estero bay. The project, costing $1,500,000, is to be completed by Aug. 1. Capacity will be 15,000 barrels of oil daily.

HEAVY TAXES FLAYED BY SHOWMAN

Plea for Reduction is Heard by Senate Finance Group

WASHINGTON, May 8. (AP)—A plea for a reduction in taxes, rather than an increase, was presented to the senate finance committee today by Max Gordon, Broadway show producer.

Gordon testified taxes were so high after paying the government that he could not produce another.

He appeared at the final day of hearing on the house tax bill. Committee members were divided sharply on the question of taxing corporations according to percentages of income not distributed, and some said the bill was sure to be modified.

Gordon did not argue against the pending bill, but for a reduction in existing taxes.

HALF-MINUTE NEWS STORIES

(By The Associated Press)

THIS IS ABOUT TWO FISHERMEN WHO GOT AWAY

PORT MYERS, Fla.—W. Asby Jones has caught 23 tarpon but he'd rather tell about the one that caught himself and then escaped.

A silver king he estimated at 20 pounds jumped into his boat. Jones and his guide scrambled for safety as the big fellow thrashed around—and finally flipped itself back into the water.

EATS 17 STEAKS BUT PASSES UP VEGETABLES

TAMPA, Fla.—An unidentified man came into a Tampa restaurant and announced he was hungry. He proved it by eating 17 steaks and 34 rolls and drinking 14 bottles of beer in two hours and a half. He told the waiter he didn't care for vegetables.

HE CUD BE SOBER, BUT JUDGE FINES HIM

MANY MARKS BAGGED BY TURNER

Flier, Here Today, Still Retains East-West Flight Record

Col. Roscoe Turner, who will be at Eddie Martin's airport today, tomorrow and Sunday, has bagged quite a few air records, a survey of his career showed today.

In 1932 he won third place in three events during the national air races—the Bendix trophy race, the Thompson trophy race and the Shell speed dash. He broke the transcontinental record from New York to Los Angeles by two hours and 17 minutes and was awarded the Harmon trophy. This prize was presented by the Ligue Internationale des Aviateurs.

Exploits Told

The following account of his following exploits was furnished by Colonel Turner's manager:

"In 1933 he won first place in the Bendix race and set a transcontinental record from New York to Los Angeles of 11 hours and 30 minutes—which record still stands. In September, 1935, he set a transcontinental record from Los Angeles to New York of 10 hours and five minutes. He also won first place in the Shell Speed dash in 1933.

"In 1934 he won first place in the Thompson Trophy race, second place in the Shell Speed dash and set a new record from Los Angeles to New York—10 hours and two minutes.

Other Races

"In October, 1934, he entered the Great MacRobertson International Air race, finished third, and took second prize money in the speed division of this race from London to Australia. In 1935 he won second prize in the Bendix Trophy race.

"The world today recognizes Colonel Turner as its foremost pilot. A general point of interest regarding his speed record attempts is answered by Colonel Turner when he says that every speed flight he makes is for the purpose of experimenting with new motors, new mechanical devices, etc., through which efforts safety and speed are furthered in commercial aviation."

tobacco and that made him ill. Police magistrate N. W. Albritton assessed a $100 fine just the same.

How's Business?

This is the fourth in a series of six articles on the progress of economic recovery.

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER

(Associated Press Financial Editor)
NEW YORK, May 8. (AP)—Billions in bank deposits and in security values have been piling up steadily during the last three years, forming a huge reservoir of capital to finance recovery.

Concurrently interest rates have fallen, in some instances to the lowest levels on record.

But while dollars are plentiful and cheap, new capital and new credit has not yet started to flow actively into industry.

Nevertheless, latest statistics show clearly that the flow is expanding, and the potential supply is so great that the need of exercising the government's new powers to control credit and speculation, to guard against an inflationary speculative orgy, has been stressed by some leaders in Washington and Wall street.

New Capital Raised

New capital raised by the issue of new securities in Wall street in the first quarter of this year amounted to $369,900,000, according to the tabulation of the Commercial and Financial Chronicle. This was more than treble "the volume raised" in the same period of 1933, but only about one-eighth of the total in the same months of 1929.

The issuance of new corporate securities to replace outstanding issues, to take advantage of the current low interest rates, rather than to raise new money, has been the chief occupation of the investment bankers recently. Some $1,120,000,000 of refunding issues were floated in the first quarter of this year, compared with only $85,000,000 in the same months of 1933.

Economists point out that a refunding movement of this character has frequently preceded a big flow of new capital issues.

Stock Prices Up

With the revival in corporation earnings, share prices in the New York Stock Exchange have more than trebled since their low of 1932. The total quoted value of all shares listed in the Exchange was recently calculated at $51,670,000,000, compared with the depression bottom of $15,630,000,000. The total quoted value of all bonds listed in the Exchange was placed as of last April 1 at $41,807,142,328, or more than $11,000,000,000 above the 1932 low.

This chart, based on the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, indicates the major changes that have taken place in the share markets in the last decade. Stock prices are currently two and one-half times their 1932 low and near the 1927 level, but more than 60 per cent under the 1929 high.

The mounting of billions of bank deposits likewise is shown in the statistics. The latest tabulation of deposits of all banks, while several months old, shows a total of $45,766,000,000, or $7,768,000,000 above the level of 1933.

Banks Have Billions

The lending power of the banks has reached unprecedented levels, with billions of idle reserves. Bank loans, however, have expanded but slowly. This is attributed to a number of causes, including the fact that in the early phases of recovery many old loans which were frozen during the bad years are liquidated, and thus tend to offset new loans.

The weekly reporting member banks of the Reserve system, which account for about two-thirds of the nation's total commercial banking resources, have increased their commercial loans only about $300,000,000 since the total touched bottom. This compares with a drop in such loans of some $5,000,000,000 during the downward swing of the cycle.

Expansion Held Near

Restoration of billions of banking and investment assets to the financial structure of the nation in the last three years lead most economists to the conclusion that financial America is now prepared to underwrite a big job of expansion, improvement and rebuilding, perhaps actually is starting to do it.

In view of the new banking and security legislation, many hope that the next big financing movement will be kept from the excesses of the last one.

(In the fifth article, Frederick R. Gardner, of the Washington staff of The Associated Press, will discuss the part government spending has played in recovery.)

Claims Leaking Gas Spoiled Orange Trees, Sues

Claiming that a leaking gas main destroyed 11 of his orange trees and laid waste 2500 square yards of his ranch, Joannes Alec, Placentia citrus grower, today instituted suit in superior court against the Southern Counties Gas company.

Alec, whose ranch is located on the Placentia-Yorba highway, asks $3500 damages for the loss of his fruit trees, and $148.61 damage for the loss of crops when his acreage was sterilized by a broken gas main. R. C. Mize, Santa Ana, represents him.

FLAG RAISING WAS COLLEGE BOY PRANK

Red Banner Hoisted by Harvard Students in Washington

WASHINGTON, May 8. (AP)—Uninformed guardians of decorum at the supreme court fairly ached today to administer a spanking to the Harvard boys said to have conducted the red flag raising at the august tribunal's very doorstep.

But the pranksters were far from the scene of the "revolution" and so it seemed the incident would blow over.

Woods McCahill, treasurer of the Harvard Lampoon, said that student editors of the humorous publication were responsible for the flag-hoisting and were on their way back to Cambridge by automobile.

The flaming banner of Communism flew from the supreme court's 80-foot flagstaff for a couple of hours in yesterday's dawn before firemen, unable to pull it down, burned it up.

STUDENT ADMITS HE SENT 'BOMB'

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 8. (AP)—A Harvard student accepted responsibility today for a fake bomb sent to Gov. James M. Curley of Massachusetts.

Leonard Farmer, a freshman, admitted to state detectives last night that he mailed the "candy bomb" to Governor Curley as a practical joke to embarrass another student.

Gavels Change Hands as 15 Units Install Officers in Joint Ceremonies

P.-T.A. Groups Hold Yearly Banquet

With many leaders continuing for a second year of activity, officers of Santa Ana's 15 Parent-Teacher association units were installed last night in candlelight ceremonies held each year in connection with the annual banquet of city P.-T. A. council executive board members.

Mrs. John J. Mills, president of the city council for a second term, presided at the installation held in the Green Cafe. She introduced Mrs. O. M. Robertson, retiring state recording secretary, who served as installing officer. Mrs. Mills also presided at the 6:30 o'clock banquet for incoming and retiring council executive board members.

New unit presidents were introduced by the retiring heads, and special guests were introduced during dinner. The guests included Mrs. E. R. Crawford, junior past council president; Mrs. W. T. Kirven and Mrs. C. R. Vandersburg, retiring and incoming fourth district leaders; Mrs. Harry Drown, Mrs. C. W. Eggleston, Dr. Margarette Baker, George R. Wells and M. B. Youel.

Musical numbers were played during dinner by Miss Esther Vogt, Mrs. Elmer and Otto Schroeder. During intervals in the ceremonial installation in which lighted candles were passed to the new officers, the P.-T. A. Mothersingers sang three selections, under direction of Mrs. Lorene Croddy Graves.

Listeners' certificate was presented to Willard unit officers by Mrs. Graves. The award signified that Willard parents held other groups in attention paid to specified P.-T. A. radio broadcasts. Mrs. James Givens presented Mrs. Mills with a P.-T. A. pin bearing two acorns, mementoes of her work and unit and council president.

Installed as council officers with Mrs. Mills were Mrs. James Givens, first vice president; Mrs. Floyd Mitchell, second vice president; Mrs. E. H. Elmsner, recording secretary; Mrs. Dale Elliott, treasurer; and Mrs. D. H. Tidball, historian; Dr. Hester Olewiler, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Neal Beisel, parliamentarian.

Elected to a second term as high school P.-T. A. president, Mrs. E. H. Elmsner was installed with Mrs. Hugh Hougham as first vice president; Mrs. Ernest Layton, second vice president; Miss Helen Kirkland, secretary; and Milton V. Newcomer, treasurer.

Presidency of Lathrop Junior High school unit was assumed by Mrs. Rufus Bond for the second year, with Mrs. Forrest Menzie as first vice president; Mrs. James Givens, second vice president.

COUNCIL OFFICERS

Mrs. John J. Mills (top), city P.-T. A. president, and Mrs. Neil Beisel, council parliamentarian, were installed last night at ceremonies for all local units.

dent; Mrs. E. E. Frisby, secretary; Mrs. Grace Wolff, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Richard Metz, treasurer; and Mrs. Musick, parliamentarian.

Mrs. George Calhoun assumed leadership of Willard P.-T. A., succeeding Mrs. Hugh Hougham, with Mrs. R. L. Hedley, vice president; Mrs. F. H. Mitchell, second vice president; Mrs. D. G. Tidball, secretary; Mrs. I. R. Hendrie, treasurer; Mrs. George Krook, parliamentarian, and Miss Mary Jane Steel, historian.

Taking the gavel of Edison unit from Mrs. R. A. McMahon, Mrs. H. A. Moomaw became president; Mrs. O. C. Phillips, first vice president; Mrs. Laverne Gulley, second vice president; Miss Dorothy Jessie, recording secretary; Mrs. Kenneth Green, treasurer; Mrs. L. F. Davis, parliamentarian; and Mrs. R. A. McMahon, historian.

Another president taking office for a second year was Mrs. James Hird, Franklin P.-T. A. Installed with her were Mrs. Noah Wilson, vice president; Mrs. Jack Munson, secretary; Mrs. T. Crossley, treasurer; and Miss Hazel McFarland, historian.

Succeeding Mrs. H. J. Howard, Mrs. E. D. Froeschle assumed presidency of Hoover unit, with Mrs. J. L. Maroon, as vice president; Mrs. Ronald Hays, jr., secretary; and Mrs. J. J. Vernon, historian. Dr. Stella Davis succeeded Dr. Hester Olewiler as head of Jefferson P.-T. A. Mrs. Edward Lee Russell became vice president; Mrs. Clyde Downing, secretary; Mrs. C. H. Holles, treasurer, and Miss Ruth Fitz, historian.

Mrs. G. E. Welsh assumed duties of Mrs. Ben Beasley, retiring president. Installed with her were Mrs. Jack Snow, vice president; Mrs. C. H. Yance, treasurer, and Miss Doris Schenck, secretary.

Continuing another term as president of the Lowell unit, Mrs. Richard Luers was installed with Mrs. J. A. Lalonde, first vice president; Mrs. R. L. Rice, second vice president; Mrs. George Dove,

Mother Feted At Family Party

Since Mrs. Emma McBride of Los Angeles, pioneer Santa Ananite and mother of Mrs. E. B. Sprague, has a birthday anniversary so near to Mothers' day, the two occasions were combined when Mrs. Sprague honored her mother last evening at a family party in her home on Victoria drive.

Lovely pink "snaps" from the hostess' garden centered the table at which Mrs. Sprague served a delicious dinner. Later in the evening the younger members of the family arrived and a large birthday cake was served with ice cream, nuts and candies.

More than 35 cards and letters of congratulation and quantities of flowers came to Mrs. McBride, who yesterday celebrated her eightieth birthday anniversary in good health and fine spirit.

Dinner guests were A. G. Finley, Miss Lulu B. Finley, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Finley, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McBride, Steele Finley, Clarence Sprague, Rhodes Finley and Mrs. Sprague's sister, Miss Bernice McBride of Los Angeles, with whom Mrs. McBride makes her home.

After-dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Leland A. Finley and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Finley and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Swarthout and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Finley and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Bradley, "Mackie" McBride and Miss Lavinia Scott of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. James Finley and family of Ontario, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lindsey and family and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Marston and family of Los Angeles.

WELLINGTONS' TRIP TOPIC OF TALK AT PARTY FOR CLUB

When Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Cheno were hosts to their bridge club Wednesday evening in their home on North Park boulevard the chief topic of conversation was the trip on which Col. and Mrs. W. B. Wellington will embark Sunday on the S. S. Pennsylvania.

They will visit New York, take delivery of a new automobile at Philadelphia and visit in Washington, D. C., before returning home June 1.

Col. Wellington, W. H. Spurgeon and E. D. White won contract scores in the play. Mr. and Mrs. White, Mr. and Mrs. Spurgeon, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Garden, the Wellingtons and the hosts were present.

treasurer; Mrs. William Eckles, secretary; Mrs. Charles Markwood, corresponding secretary; Mrs. S. S. Juden, auditor; Mrs. H. H. Stephens, parliamentarian, and Miss Grace Bell, historian.

Mrs. Herbert Hildebrand, succeeding Mrs. F. H. Mitchell as McKinley P.-T. A. head, took office with Mrs. John State, first vice president; Mrs. Norman T. Franklin, second vice president; Miss Kathryn Blank recording secretary; Mrs. Elmer Christensen, treasurer; Mrs. Floyd Mitchell, parliamentarian; Mrs. Evangeline Stark, auditor; Mrs. J. A. Gajski, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. A. E. Knight, historian.

Mrs. Ernest A. Reuter relinquished the presidency of John Muir unit to Mrs. S. C. Sutton; Mrs. C. S. Warner, first vice president; Mrs. Daley, second vice president; Mrs. Mary Cole, recording secretary; and Mrs. Arnold Jones, treasurer. Continuing Mrs. Roosevelt's term as head, Mrs. Charles Briscoe will serve with Mrs. R. O. Metz, first vice president; Mrs. Harry Fink, second vice president; Mrs. R. L. Brown, corresponding; and Mrs. Lynn H. Crawford, parliamentarian.

Mrs. O. Z. Robertson received the Spurgeon unit gavel from Mrs. R. E. Steinberger. Taking office with her were Dr. L. W. Sherrard, vice president; Mrs. J. F. B. Richards, secretary; Mrs. J. E. Arterburn, treasurer; R. E. Steinberger, auditor; Mrs. J. Valentine, historian, and Mrs. Jack Bascom, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Fred Thompson, continuing as Woodrow Wilson P.-T. A. president, was installed with Mrs. Don Hilliard, vice president; Mrs. Harry Becker, secretary; Mrs. Carl Edgar, treasurer; Mrs. C. O. Cole, parliamentarian, and Miss Bonnie Kiser, historian.

Berlin statisticians estimate there are about 1,000,000 Germans in the world.

Mary Stoddard

Happy Stepmother Tells Her Solution of "Homemaker's" Grave Problem

Isn't it enough for any woman, asks a successful second wife, a Santa Ananite, to have the love of her husband and step-children, without begrudging a trip to the grave of her predecessor on Memorial day?

In answer to "Homemaker," who thinks of refusing to accompany her husband to his first wife's grave, comes this splendid letter:

My Dear Miss Stoddard: The letter in Wednesday's paper interested me about the second wife visiting the first wife's grave. Like her, I married my husband who was left with three children and we always went to the cemetery on Decoration day, so after we were married it just never occurred to me not to go so I buy my flowers, arrange them and we always go just the same. Tell her to get such thoughts out of her head just as quick as she can, for it will make her much happier if she will forget it and go just as I have done all these years.

Tell her if she husband is as dear as she says not to ever again let such thoughts as refusing to place flowers on a grave bother or worry her for she will be so much happier if she goes with them.

Attractive prizes went to Mesdames Bessie Martel McKenzie, W. B. Williams and Fred C. Rowland. The hostess' daughter, Mrs. J. Riley Huber and her pretty young daughter, Linda, who wore a perky little yellow ruffled frock, were special guests at the party.

Other guests were Mesdames Don Andrews, F. W. Slabaugh, C. P. Boyer, Adam Zaiser, H. T. Dunning, Wade Warner, John Wehrly, J. L. Wehrly, F. E. Farnsworth, W. B. Williams, Bessie M. McKimzie, Fred Rowland, Alvin Nowotny, Asa Hoffman, Mark Lacy, Louis Lühr, Mortimer Plum, George S. Briggs, J. E. Paul and Byron Curry.

GIFTED SINGER OF SANTA ANA TO SING TONIGHT

Lorraine Bartelle, gifted soprano singer and sister of Mrs. Perry Davis of Santa Ana, will present a concert this evening at 8 o'clock in the Ebell clubhouse auditorium.

She is to be presented May 20 by the Los Angeles Shakespear club in a concert, and will appear this summer in the San Diego exposition.

Her program will include compositions of Bononcini, Michael Arne, Mozart, Paradies, Verdi, Tchaikovsky, Bach, Gounod, Grieg, Campbell-Tipton, George Roberts and L. Ardit.

Her accompanist, Norman Soergel, widely-known concert pianist, will present one of his own compositions in the middle of the program.

HARRY A. CLARK HOME FROM NORTH FOR VACATION

Harry A. Clark, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Clark, 1904 Greenleaf street, arrived home this week to spend the summer vacationing from his studies at the Physicians and Surgeons College of Dentistry, San Francisco.

He has completed his freshman year and will be sophomore class president next year. He is a member of Delta Sigma Delta fraternity. His alma mater eventually is to become a branch of Stanford University, so that his alumnus contacts promise to be wide and interesting.

Harry's grandmother is Mrs. A. A. Rice of Santa Ana.

LELAND FINLEYS HOME FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. Leland A. Finley brushed the dust of Arizona's Grand canyon from their clothes and car and settled down again in their home, 1718 Greenleaf street, yesterday.

They left last Sunday and stopped at Boulder dam and other points of interest en route.

BIRTHDAY GROUP HONORED AT PARTY IN TUTHILL HOME

May birthday anniversaries of four individuals were feted last evening at a delightful dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Tuthill in their home on Victoria drive.

Mr. Tuthill's anniversary was yesterday, Mrs. Tuthill's May 2, A. G. Flagg's, May 1, and Mrs. Ray Chandler, May 6.

The four good friends celebrated together and were the center of congratulatory wishes. In the evening's contract bridge play, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Flagg won a lovely turquoise pottery tray and Mrs. W. A. Flood, a "hankie-clip" set.

End vases held single roses on the small dinner tables at which 16 guests were seated.

AVOCADO CROP RETURNS UP

Income from fruit harvested during March netted local and other Southern California avocado growers approximately $100,000, or 70 per cent more than did the fruit of the previous month, it is revealed by the Calavo Growers of California. The final March pool disbursement, along with a "dividend" of approximately $13,500 applying on all fruit handled to April 1 this season, is being received by growers late this week.

March returns per box averaged 8 per cent higher than February returns, despite 50 per cent more fruit being sold in March than in February. Calavo Growers returned growers, net at their orchards, an average of $1.34 per packed box, and up to $1.38 per

College Student Strike Halted

PULLMAN, Wash., May 8. (AP)—Leaders of the Washington State college blue law strike called off their pickets this afternoon and ordered some 3200 students to report back to classes in a tentative settlement of the walkout, which became effective yesterday morning.

box. These are total returns, but do not include the possible final "dividend."

Total returns netted by growers participating in this orderly marketing program amount to over a third of a million dollars for fruit marketed this season up to April 1. This six-month total income is within $400 of that of the same period of last season, although only 43 per cent as much fruit has been produced, harvested and marketed this season, as last season.

TINY "OVETURES" TO GALA DINNERS

It's little things rather than big things, I want to talk about today—those tiny tidbits that do so much to intrigue the appetite that they have come to be known as "appetizers."

The French words, "Hors d'oeuvres," meaning a small portion of highly seasoned food used to precede a meal, covers the entire range of appetizers. A canape is the term applied to those hors d'oeuvres which are served on bread, toast or crackers. (Canape, by the way means "sofa.") Relishes are those hors d'oeuvres which are arranged in compartment dishes or platters and with which crisp thin toast or crackers are separately served.

An appetizer forms the first course of the meal in either the very formal dinner party or the very informal buffet supper. It may be served in the living room or from a separate table in the dining room, or it may be placed at the dining table. Wherever it is served the most important things to remember are these—They must be small in size, highly flavored and attractively garnished. From my files I have picked, at random, a few easily prepared and tasty appetizers.

Deviled Tongue Canape

Cut slices of bread into rounds and saute in olive oil. Spread each slice with savory butter, and over that place a thin round slice of cooked tongue. Cover tongue with cream cheese moistened with a little cream. Sprinkle with paprika and garnish with a slice of stuffed olive in the center.

Savory butter: Mix one teaspoon each of mustard and curry powder to a paste by adding a little Worcestershire sauce and a few drops of Tabasco. Stir the paste into two or three tablespoons of creamed butter.

Tuna Wafers

Spread tuna fish, mashed fine, and mixed with a little Roquefort cheese and mayonnaise on salt crisp crackers. Sprinkle with paprika before serving.

Ham Balls

Take equal amounts of chopped cold, boiled ham and sieved hard-cooked egg yolks and work into a stiff paste with a little mayonnaise dressing. Season highly with salt and pepper and form into balls an inch in diameter. Stud these balls with a few capers which have been well drained. These are very good to use in a compartment dish.

Tomato Caprice

Peel a tomato and cut a thin slice from the top. Remove the seeds, pulp and juice, leaving the core and dividing walls. Fill each section with a different filling such as pimiento cheese, deviled ham, cream cheese and chives, deviled egg paste or crab meat mixed with mayonnaise. Chill tomato and then slice in 1/4-inch slices and serve on toast rounds of the same size as the tomato slice.

Crab Puffs

Make tiny cream puffs about an inch in diameter and fill with chopped crab meat mixed with boiled dressing. Shrimp, ham, oysters or anchovy paste may be used as the puff filling.

Cream Puffs

1/2 cup butter (1 cube)
1 cup boiling water
1 1/2 cups sifted flour "Home-Perfect" Flour

4 eggs

Heat the butter and water together to boiling point in heavy sauce pan. Sift the flour, measure and sift again. Add flour all at once, and stir constantly with a wooden spoon until the mixture clears the pan and forms into a ball—about 1 minute. Remove from stove, cool, and add the unbeaten eggs one at a time, beating to a smooth paste after each egg is added, then beat mixture until smooth and velvety. Grease very lightly a baking sheet or shallow pan and drop the paste from spoon, keeping the puffs at least 3 inches apart. Place in very hot oven (450 degrees) for 15 minutes, lowering the temperature to moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 30 to 35 minutes after the puffs have fully expanded. When baked, remove to cooling rack and allow to cool slowly away from draft. When cool, cut off tops with sharp knife, scoop out any filaments of soft dough with a spoon, fill and replace tops. This makes 12 large puffs or 58 smaller ones.

Caviar Canapes

Cut bread in one-fourth inch slices and shape with a circular cutter. Spread each piece with seasoned caviar and over that sprinkle sifted egg yolk. On the outside edge set three slices of olives (stuffed with pimiento) arranging them at equal distance from each other.

Caviar Sticks

Shape thin slices of bread with a lady-finger cutter, and saute lightly in olive oil, spread with seasoned caviar and over the caviar place diagonally across the center a small mound of chopped gherkins, next to that on one end, sifted cooked egg yolk. Where the egg joins the pickle, lay diagonally two strips of pimiento.

Sardines Crescents

Prepare a very highly seasoned sardine butter. Cut bread in crescent-shaped pieces and saute in olive oil. Spread the sardine butter rather thick over the center of the crescent, bringing it down thinner at the edge. Select very small leaves from a bunch of cress and with a small skewer press the tiny short stems into the butter near the edge. The leaves will give a wreath effect, sprinkle every other canape with finely chopped egg white and a dash of paprika, and the remaining canapes with sifted egg yolk.

Cheese Cornucopias

1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup grated cheese
1 1/2 cups sifted flour "Home-Perfect" Flour
4 teaspoon salt
Cream butter, add sugar, and cream thoroughly. Add beaten egg and grated cheese. Sift flour and measure. Sift again three times with salt. Add to first mixture, blending into stiff dough. Chill thoroughly. Roll out on floured board to 1-16th inch thickness. Cut in strips 1/2 inch by six inches. Make small cornucopias of heavy paper and twist pastry around paper starting at the small end. Cut off large end of cornucopias even so they will stand up on cookie sheet. Bake in hot

Pullman College Students Strike

PULLMAN, Wash., May 7. (AP)—The 3200 students of Washington State College went on strike today "until the administration revises campus rules" which, among other things, prohibit dormitory dates on sorority porches and unchaperoned picnics.

Beginning as a lark complaint against the dean of women's minor regulations on social conduct, the movement boomed into a campus-wide protest against what the students described as "dictatorial" and "autocratic" policies of the college administration.

oven, 425 degrees, eight to 10 minutes. Slip pastry cones from paper and fill with cream cheese or other soft cheese.

Oil Lands in Orange County Assessed at $29,532,490

Did you know that virtually one-sixth of all taxes in Orange county are paid by oil companies?

This fact was divulged today when County Assessor James Sleeper announced that the mineral rights in this county during the past year were assessed at $29,532,490. The total assessment is $191,962,630.

The mineral rights assessment has increased by leaps and bounds since 1932, examination of the rolls showed.

In that year the total assessment was $17,267,850; next year it dropped slightly, to $16,431,640. In 1934 it once more boomed, reaching the figure of $19,847,075, and last year it leaped ahead again, nearly $10,000,000.

Part of the astounding increase is caused by action of state in increasing assessments by 35 per cent last year. Exclusive of that, however, the assessment was $21,875,920, more than $2,000,000 more than the year previous.

None of the above figures, Mr. Sleeper said, include personal property taxes. Assessments for 1936 will not be available for some time yet.

Road accidents in South Africa in the last two years totaled over 50,000, of which 1500 were fatal.

Students Try to Kill Lupescu

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 7. (AP)—Nine students were arrested today for an alleged attempt to form a squadron to kill Madame Magda Lupescu, friend of King Carol.

Resentment against the red-haired leader of the Royal Camarilla was disclosed as one reason for a student strike that started today.

Other Public Enemies

MURDERER MAHAN, who has rated as Public Enemy No. 1 for the past few days, has been taken alive without a shot. He joins Killer Karpis, his predecessor, and another one of the Meyerhaeuser kidnapers, behind the bars.

The Mahan and Karpis captures shed new luster on the Justice Department's capable agents, the G-men. One after another the big shots of America's gangdom have crumpled under their unrelenting drive. Seldom has this country seen such efficiency as J. Edgar Hoover's federal policemen are displaying.

This sensational record for crime detection only emphasizes more glaringly the weakness in our law enforcement system that makes much of their work futile. We refer particularly to our medieval court procedure which permits rich criminals to delay and sometimes escape conviction, to prisons where young men are schooled in the finer points of crime, to the misuse of probation and parole, and to the social sink-holes where lawlessness spawns.

Karpis, for instance, was an alumnus of both a high school and college of crime. At 16 he was sentenced to 10 years in a reformatory for stealing tires. There he is said to have learned safe-cracking. In Kansas state penitentiary he was tutored by one of the criminal sons of "Ma" Kate Baker, specialist of robbery, kidnaping and murder.

It was after his parole, however, that he made his reputation. Facing a four-year sentence in 1931 for burglary, he was paroled by a kindly, but misguided Oklahoma judge. A month later he had committed a murder and was well along in his career as bank robber, kidnaper and killer.

The federal program of crime detection apparently is succeeding. But no program of crime suppression can be a success unless it renovates our courts and prisons, and wipes out those other Public Enemies, associated with extreme poverty—malnourishment, city and rural slums, illiteracy, and child neglect.

Be sure to start "Floating Peri" today. E. Phillips Oppenheim says it's his best novel. Page One, please.

Spare the Rod?

AND NOW we read that modern psychologists are advocating a brisk paddling for children who insist upon playing in the streets. Says Dr. Garry Myers, nationally-noted psychologist, "a parent should take his child for a walk, watch him when he steps off the curb, seize him then and there, and give him several good lusty slaps on his bare thighs with the flat hand."

Ho hum. Only a few years ago another school of psychologists advised us to discard razor straps, paddles and other means of punishment. They told us to spare the rod and try persuasion.

And who are we to argue with noted experts, many of whom have trained nothing more than an occasional Pekingese dog?

But just from occasional try-and-error experiments, we find that substitution is a mighty good medicine for anyone. For example, some children in our neighborhood were playing in the street. Persuasion didn't seem to do much good, so their parents tried some old-fashioned paddling.

That worked for awhile. Soon, however, the sting wore off the affected area and the boys were out in the danger zone again.

Came the dawn. The parents held a council of war and decided on a plan of attack. Every possible means was used to keep the children off the street.

The fathers rolled up their sleeves and helped the youngsters construct a real baseball diamond in a near-by empty lot. Why play in the streets with such a recreation ground near-by?

Back-yard playgrounds were constructed for the younger children. These were not fancy or expensive. A swing, teeter-totter and similar playthings may be constructed at little or no cost.

The children aren't playing in the street anymore. Maybe such a plan will work in your neighborhood.

Protect Yourself!

NIGHT driving is exceptionally dangerous, says Elmer Heidt, manager of the Automobile Club of Southern California, who contributes the eighth regulation to The Journal's protect yourself campaign.

Rule No. 8—BE ESPECIALLY CAREFUL DRIVING AT NIGHT.

Mr. Heidt points out the dangers of being fooled by a car with only one headlamp burning, of being blinded by glaring lights, and of the general hazard caused by restricted after-dark visibility. PROTECT YOURSELF, especially at night, if you don't want to go to the hospital or morgue as a traffic victim, he urges.

Shadow Over Orange County

FIRST blood in the prison site goes to those who want to locate the big state penitentiary here. Their activities have caused Capt. R. W. Harvey, U. S. A., retired, and a group of friends to tentatively cancel plans for settling down and starting a colony of retired army and navy officers in Orange County.

There is an actual, terrifically realistic picture of what the prison will do to all our hopes of attracting the best class of citizens. They simply won't live in the shadow of a prison. What a heavy cost to Orange County unless this jailbird deal is called off in a hurry!

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

Thoughts while strolling: John V. A. Weaver sounds like a swing from one horizontal bar to another.

So much Hollywood talk about the steel-trap come-backs of Tess Slessinger. For instance! Hard to beat Ben Atwell's pent house name — "Poverty Heights."

Walter Huston is a perfect Ramsay MacDonald of 20 years ago.

Gail Patrick and Florence Vidor Heifetz might be sisters. Who remembers when Jim Corbett was called an "upstart dude" after licking Sullivan? Ewing Galloway calls writing "phrase balancing."

Marine artists want to fight with anyone calling a ship a boat. Henry Reuterahl par example. Grover Patterson is scouting for a St. Bernard to name "Elmer." Lots of plugging going on for Grover Whalen for mayor. And Fred Astaire better pick up some new steps after that dancing triumph of Ray Bolger.

Add Fauntleroy moniker: Oswald Garrison Villard. They don't seem able to marry off Howard Hughes. Not many young men are enjoying life more than Walter Chrysler, Jr. Or elderly men more than the shy Col. E. M. House.

Sophie Tucker leading her own orchestra should be rag-ma-jazzy. About this time every year I want to get hold of a paint bucket and sash around. Writing routine notes: Ursula Parrott does hers between 7 p. m. and 4 a. m. Rebecca West goes to her type writer at 10 p. m. What Amos Carter could do with that wahoo cowboy song on a loose evening!

Elevator strike stories continue to bob up. This one: Sigmund Romberg was quartered on the 17th floor of an apartment house and when service stopped Romberg was notified that if he wanted to get out of the building he must walk. He started down, reached the eighth floor and stopped. "I can't make it," he gasped, turned and climbed back nine floors to his quarters.

Many believe that when George Horace Lorimer pulls down his desk top figuratively for the last time at the Saturday Evening Post his successor will be his son Graeme and that the young man's name will fly at the masthead as has his father's for so long. Already young Lorimer with his wife has turned out some fast selling books. His father in formative days created a large writing following. The son is now associate editor and is becoming more and more head contact man between authors and the magazine.

Another son of a writing man is determined to follow in the footsteps of his father. He is Octavus Roy Cohen, Jr., and has set forth the hardest way by adopting a pen name that even his parents do not know. He wants no editorial office sympathy on account of his dad's reputation.

Floyd Gibbons believes his life was saved when he became stricken in Ethiopia with a tropical scourge that shucked off 60 pounds in a few weeks. His New York doctor had guessed what might befall him and wrote explicit diagnoses and instructions to be followed in case the illness developed.

Emil Coleman holds the long distance dance orchestra playing record. At a debutante party on Long Island some time ago his band, save for a few brief pauses to snaffle cigarette puffs, played without interruption from 10:30 p. m. until 3:30 a. m. Eddy Duchin once improvised on the piano for five hours straight for a dance-mad Casino party. And was rewarded with a thousand-dollar bill.

Brooklyn has always been the haven for amateur performers. Even in the days of the Bowery get-the-hook nights, from which originated the idea. Nobody seems to know why. It has never been stage conscious and only recently it tried to ban the use of the circus. Almost 60 per cent of the applicants on the Major Bowes, Fred Allen and other programs come from across the bridge, and what is more a big percentage of the touring amateur shows are from there. In other days, too, Brooklyn furnished more burlesque troupers than any other city in America. Just one of those things.

A young collegiate, evidently smacked in the face with a bar towel, calling from his barber chair in the Waldorf: "Prithce, tonsor! how about my copping a nape of the neck peck?" (Copyright, 1936)

Remarkable Remarks

Let these incompetents in public office go on relief if they have no other place. We will take care of them, but not in office.—Mrs. Malcolm L. McBride, League of Women Voters.

I find nothing in the press to encourage crime—but plenty to warn you and me that the savage elements of American society must be destroyed.—H. B. LeQuatte, president, Advertising Club of New York.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Admiral Joseph Reeves, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, has had a bad attack of the spy jitters. Apparently he sees spies behind every stanchion in the fleet.

The other day, at least, he issued one of the most unusual orders in American naval history. He decreed that no officer or enlisted man in the United States fleet could keep a camera of any kind aboard ship.

This is unprecedented. In unusual instances in the past, orders have been issued to deposit cameras with the executive officer. But never has the commander of the fleet shown such distrust in his own officers.

As a result, several small boatloads of photographic material have been taken off the ships just after the order was issued. Officers desiring to take pictures ashore will now have to buy cameras and films while in port, and leave the cameras there. They cannot be taken aboard ship.

Not Admiral Reeves forgot one thing. His order did not apply to female nurses aboard hospital ships. They can still take all the pictures they want.

TWO-DOLLAR LANGUAGE
Madame Vargas, charming wife of the president of Brazil, was being entertained at lunch by Mrs. Roosevelt. Among the other guests was Mrs. Sol Bloom, wife of New York's ebullient theatrical congressman.

Madame Vargas speaks excellent French, but no English. Mrs. Roosevelt also speaks French; Mrs. Bloom does not.

Despite this, Mrs. Bloom sat down at the place of honor beside Madame Vargas after the luncheon was over, and endeavored to engage in conversation. English and French did not mix. Mrs. Bloom sat silent for a moment while Mrs. Roosevelt covered up the embarrassment.

Then in a loud voice Mrs. Bloom said: "I'll sell my seat for two dollars to anyone who speaks French."

F. D. R., JR.
Franklin Roosevelt, Jr., asked whether he was engaged to Ethel duPont, the Liberty League-munitions heiress, whom he met at Quaintine in New York harbor recently, replied:

"Aw, all that's silly."

NOT NEGLECTED
The army and navy are not the only branches of the military service that have done well by themselves under the New Deal. The National Guard also has come in for some quiet but juicy allotments.

From congress the militiamen this year received a 10 per cent boost over last year in appropriations, 33 per cent higher than the year before. Also $883,000 was made available from Work Relief funds for improvements in National Guard training camps.

This still is not the real story. During the current year more than 125 armories are being constructed, chiefly with WPA funds. The total cost of these buildings runs well over $5,000,000.

Though this construction work is a major feature of the WPA's activities, there has not been a single publicity release on the subject. Even in the state lists where the various projects are itemized in detail—the word "armory" is not to be found. They are merely listed as "federal build-

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Italy's War Only Begins With Enemy's Surrender

MUSOLINI'S venture in Ethiopia is running high to triumph. The Italian people have been drilled to loud rejoicing at the right moment. The master lifts his hand and the entire people shouts paeans of victory. As did the Caesars of old, this modern Caesar stages his triumphal march along the Appian Way, and the crumbling walls of the Coliseum resound to the paeans of war.

Not for 15 centuries have the Italian people had much occasion for military rejoicing. Throughout the long dark stretch of the Middle Ages, and down almost to our own day, the peninsula was the battle ground for invading hosts. Goths, Vandals, Lombards, Saracens, Normans, Spaniards, Austrians, Frenchmen, ranged the land with fire and sword. Italian nationality vanished completely in a thousand years of devastating strife. Not till this century, this astounding meteor in the European sky, this son of a blacksmith hammered his way to supreme power did the Italian soul steel itself for victory.

Ethiopian resistance has collapsed because primitive black men tried to imitate the white men's method of warfare. Bunching "generals" and "colonels" strutting about in gold braid,

PRACTICAL GOVERNMENT

To the Editor: I note tonight in your columns under the heading "Editors and Their Opinions" an editorial quoted from the Coastline Dispatch. The writer in this article says, "There should be a lesson in a late experience of Alberta, Canada, for those who advocate various schemes of 'social credit' and kindred Utopian dreams." He then adds, "Premier William Aberhart was elected on a platform promising everybody a 'dividend' of at least $25 per month from the government, etc. He has been in office long enough to find out that his ideas are utterly impractical. Not only has he been unable to keep his campaign promises, but the province is in a bad way financially, having defaulted in its bonds and being unable to get credit from established financial sources."

It strikes me that this writer reaches his conclusions rather illogically. He blames the newly elected premier for the condition of affairs in the province and in the same breath says he has been unable to put his campaign promises into effect. He tries to credit the collapse of the province's financial structure to the premier's campaign promise of $25 per month to everybody which promise to pay he admits has never been fulfilled. He, however, is honest enough to credit the premier with being somewhat of a realist. He is someone who today hold office in America. He gives the premier credit for desisting from carrying out ideas which he has learned are impractical. It would be a fine thing for the American people if their leaders would likewise desist from persisting in a program which results should teach them is impractical. And I am not hitting at the Townsends as I presume the Coastline Dispatch writer does.—Walter R. Robb, Santa Ana.

Capt. Meehan stopped for me at an intersection. It wasn't that it had violated the regulations, or was sought by the highway patrol, or different from some of the receptions I get at the crossings.

Oscar Carothers says it is much easier to get a lost dog returned if he is a mongrel, than a pedigreed animal. He has had experience on both sides. Usually the first dog isn't so "ritzy." Fact is, someone is willing to give you a dog to get rid of him. Naturally the breed is ordinary, but it satisfies the boy, and the boy is usually the reason for getting a dog in the first place. If that animal is lost he is returned, but later on when you get a little more "dog-gie" and invest in an aristocrat, if that animal leaves home there is usually a reason for it, and the "reason" isn't going to bring him back. Many a good dog has been kidnapped so skillfully that the G-men wouldn't be able to find him. All of which is not of much assistance to Oscar in his search for a lost dog.

UNVEILING THE WHITE HOUSE

To the Editor:

We are all working for Dr. Townsend, the God given man. He has a sure cure for all ills of the land; We want freedom and right, for every woman and man, And we'll get just that, in the Townsend Plan.

When we were kids, in the land of the free and the brave, We were taught by our parents to save; But now things have changed in many ways, We must spend the two hundred, in thirty days.

So the rich can't hoard and give us their dictation, Or fill us full of bad information; We are going to clean house in Washington to perfection, We will do it in this next election.

We will open up the factories, there'll be a job for every man; When the wheels are set going, with the Townsend Plan, So come on all your unbelieving congressmen, get on your shrouds You're going to be carried out in a box, by the Townsend crowd. John Penn, 609 W. Fourth St. Santa Ana.

FUGITIVE MOTORISTS HIT

SAN FRANCISCO (AP).—The net has been cast for auto thieves who dodge damage suits arising from accidents by fleeing to another state. Laws in 42 states now permit service of processes on the head of the motor vehicle department as the offender's "true attorney." The defendant is notified by registered mail and judgment may be taken unless he fights the case.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIBBIN

Our meteorological viewpoint is friends. Thursday morning some friends said to me that it was a beautiful morning, others predicted a desert wind, some a hot day, and more of them said nothing at all about the weather. But it furnishes a topic of conversation when all other subjects fail. After all the day comes and goes and all we do about the weather is to grumble and imagine that it has done a lot of damage, when most of the harm was just imaginary. However, I do want to say just for myself that if the desert winds miss us I feel better about it.

Capt. Meehan stopped for me at an intersection. It wasn't that it had violated the regulations, or was sought by the highway patrol, or different from some of the receptions I get at the crossings.

Oscar Carothers says it is much easier to get a lost dog returned if he is a mongrel, than a pedigreed animal. He has had experience on both sides. Usually the first dog isn't so "ritzy." Fact is, someone is willing to give you a dog to get rid of him. Naturally the breed is ordinary, but it satisfies the boy, and the boy is usually the reason for getting a dog in the first place. If that animal is lost he is returned, but later on when you get a little more "dog-gie" and invest in an aristocrat, if that animal leaves home there is usually a reason for it, and the "reason" isn't going to bring him back. Many a good dog has been kidnapped so skillfully that the G-men wouldn't be able to find him. All of which is not of much assistance to Oscar in his search for a lost dog.

Nothin' much happened today, so I turned back to the 25 years ago column to find out what happened then. You know something has just got to happen or there wouldn't be any interest in life.

Political headquarters of the Sinclair and Landon groups are closed but the signs remain. Many of them, in view of the primary decisions, seem to be grotesquely out of harmony with the preference of the voters. But "headquarters" seem to be one of the necessary requisites to a political campaign, and there is always enough hope and sustenance to carry the fight right up to the night before election. The morning after the picture changes.

John Osterman offered me a political story for the column, but I insisted he get his story substantiated before using it. Radio broadcasts and campaign orators will in all probability serve an abundance of party food during the campaign. In fact, there will be so much of it that we will be glad when they change the menu.

Santa Ana appears to be the favored spot for the breaking of speed records for airplanes. Howard Hughes came down from Los Angeles several months ago and crashed a new record. Now Col. Roscoe Turner has an ambition to take over Hughes' "I'm satisfied with my usual speed. What's the hurry anyway? After you break a record some other flier wants to break the one you break, and so the wheels go round and round until they quit going round, and then the light goes out."

You would think the hot weather would thaw out a cold, but there appears to be no virtue in desert heat when it floats in. You got to go to it to get relief. Trips to the valley have been known to cure the flu and severe colds, but the healing properties seem to be lost in transit.

In a certain precinct during the primary election where some 71 voters appeared to cast their ballot, but one lone working man was among the number, and his vote counted just as much as his business and professional neighbors. It's no reflection on a man because he doesn't have a phd, an md or dd or some other title attached to his name. I surmise he is just as happy and independent as his more aristocratic personnel. Anyway he got quite a kick out of the dissimilarity when it was called to his attention.

Emory Arledge brought his dad into the shop today. He is from Fort Worth, Tex., where he has been a member of the police force for 15 years. The elder Arledge says Texas is on the map this year in a big way, as the state is indulging in a centennial celebration, and he extends an invitation to come and see the state, as there is so much of it. Incidentally, he gave me the length and width of his official authority, and said if I selected a hotel within his authority he would take care of me, provided I behaved myself. My excursions into Texas have been limited, and confined to passing through the Panhandle country, and then it was in a Pullman car. I'm to have a limited vacation, but not long enough to cure Texas. There is too much acreage.
